CALLED HUSBAND A 'SNAKE

Wife Had Other "Pet Names" for Rev. John Eills, She Testifies. His Notes on Love Reac

SPRINGFIELD, March 12.—Mrs. John Eills, the wife of the pastor of the First Unitarian Church of Chicopee, in an effort today before Probate Judge Long to obtain from her husband the possession of their four-year-old daughter, Olga, resumed the witness stand and continued in cross-examination some of what she referred to as the "pet names" she sometimes applied to her clergyman-husband. She said:

"I called him a dog.

"I called him a hypocrite.

"I called him a snake.

"Didn't you call him a rattlesnake?" asked Lawyer Robinson, who appeared for the husband.

"No," replied the wife. "I did not specify the breed of snake. It was just plain snake."

The court room was thronged by friends of the couple whose domestic life has been a jangle.

The listeners at the trial have been regaled by the reading of many notes covering a variety of subjects written by the literal husband. He also outlined a play which the wife said was written about their home life. In his writings Mr. Eills touched on love freely. The names of two women have been mentioned in the case.

Mrs. Eills was asked about her acquaintance with her husband before their marriage.

Eills Was a Telegrapher.

"I was in the employ of my husband before our marriage," she said. "He was a telegrapher in stock brokerage offices in Boston, New York and Chicago. Just before I was married I earned $25 a week. I worked in Lowell."

Q.—Did you work for a boat shark? A.—I worked in a loan office. There was no shark to it.

Judge Long—It makes no difference what she worked at before she was married.

Mrs. Eills said that after her marriage she went to work for R. M. Bloomfield, Jr., who conducted a brokerage office in School street, Boston. She opened offices in Pittsburg and Baltimore for him.

Q.—Where was your husband at this time? A.—In Boston working as a telegrapher in a bucket-shop.

Spilled Poison Around.

Q.—How do you know it was a bucket-shop? A.—Everybody knew it. (She mentioned the name of a firm that was closed in Boston by the authorities.)

Q.—Did you go out to dinner and the theatre with Mr. Bloomfield? A.—Yes.

Mrs. Eills told about meeting her husband at the dock when he returned from a trip to Europe which he took alone. She said he brought her, among other things, a pair of gloves. Then she added:

"He also brought several other pairs of gloves and among theme were gloves for Mrs. Christopher Kidder and Miss Senia Wentworth."

Q.—Did you make an attempt at suicide while your husband was in Europe? A.—No. I did spill some carbolic acid around, but that was only to make the people in the house think that I intended to kill myself.

Q.—Why did you do that? A.—I wanted to give my husband the impression that I loved him.

It was at that point that Mrs. Eills told about the "pet names" that she applied at times to her husband, and she said that verbal squalls of that kind often happened.

Among phrases in the writings of the pastor read in court—letters, notes and scenario for a play, said to parallel the life of the couple, were:

Read Pastor's Letters.

Among phrases of the pastor, read in court, were:

Live and breathe and die, a rose-fed pig in an esthetic sty.

I don't think it is so bad for a woman to get drunk if she gets drunk with only one man.

I love everybody who loves me and accept all love with thanksgiving.

The one I really love is the person who thinks I am greater than I think I am.

In his play it is argued the minister is himself out the hero and his wife the villainess, but he finally conquers and has her incarcerated in an insane asylum.

Before taking up the play Mrs. Eills read more notes left around by her husband, among which were the following:

Man has developed his individuality by struggling with other animals and with his own mind. His whole life is a struggle and in this struggle his superiority is developed. In order to be on an equal scale with men, women will have to do the same and win their own laurels. The relation between two people makes life good or bad. Her systematic evil interpretations

WILLIAM FRAZIER, WHO IS ACCUSED OF UNION THEFT

Photograph copyrighted by E. Chickering.

Application was made today for a warrant for the arrest of William H. Frazier, secretary and treasurer of the Atlantic Coast Seamen's Union, and national secretary of the International Seamen's Union, who disappeared last Wednesday. The application was made following an examination of the union's books by an expert accountant to determine if the union funds were intact.

The amount involved is between $2,000 and $3,000. The books of the union were investigated by President Andrew Furuseth and Vice-President Patrick Flynn, both of San Francisco, of the International Seamen's Union, and Second Vice-President Victor A. Olander, who were summoned when local officials became alarmed at Frazier's absence. The president and vice-president were in Washington on other business and arrived in Boston last night in response to a telegram.

BIG VOTE CAST IN CAMBRIDGE

Cambridge society women turned out in great numbers today to aid in the election of Professor Joseph H. Beale, a Republican, who was seeking a re-election as a member of the Cambridge school committee. With the activity of seasoned political campaigners, the women of the University City were up early and with autos and carriages worked all day long in aid of their candidate. Beale was opposed by John W. Bradley, a Democrat, and he, too, had a number of women supporters. The wives and daughters and relatives of the Harvard professors were out working for Beale.

During the past month the registration of women reached 6,229, an increase of over 5,000 of last year. Both parties were very busy in getting the women registered.

Republicans Make Fight.

There was a good deal of interest in the mayoralty contest in which Mayor Edward Barry, Democrat, was opposed for re-election by the Republican candidate, Marshall F. Blanchard, a former alderman.

Another thing of interest was the fact that this was the first time that the Republican party has gone into an election in Cambridge under its own colors and waged a campaign. The Lodge party which opposed the Democrats in the municipal elections was known as the Non-Partisan party, and which broke up last Fall after an existence of ten years.

Among the early women voters seen at the polls were Miss Priscilla P. Jouett, No. 21 Frost street; Mrs. Laura C. Sanders, No. 32 Gray street; Mrs. Annie C. Bliss, No. 27 Hurlburt street; Miss Agnes Purcell, No. 27 Mt. Vernon street; Margaret J. Foster, No. 129 Ellery street; Emma J. Campbell, No. 47 Ellery street; Ellen L. Hollings, No. 53 Ellery street and Rebecca Flewelling, No. 61 Ellery street.

Women Are Busy.

Not only that, but the women were keeping close watch of the polling places, and at the Russell School, the Lowell School and the polling place in Brattle square, the women were checking.

Flags were flying all over the city to remind citizens that it was election day.

There were thirty-three candidates out to land the eleven places on the Board of Aldermen, of whom nine are at present on the board and were out for re-election. In this race there were Democrats, Republicans, Progressive Republicans and Socialists.

The inroads in the no-license vote a year ago scared the no-license contingent, and this year a whirlwind campaign against license was made.

GERMAN OFFICERS HURT IN AUTO DROP

BERLIN, March 12.—Two German army officers, Lieutenant Engwer and Lieutenant Schultz, were injured, the former fatally, when a Harian monoplane in which they were making a military reconnoissance plunged to the earth near here today. Another aviator, who was accompanying them in a Wright machine, rendered first aid.

BURNED SHIP'S CREW ARRIVES

Captain and Eight Men of the Leo Landed at T Wharf by Their Rescuers.

Saved from the sea after the schooner Leo took fire and was destroyed by an explosion of gasoline off the Isle of Shoals, Captain William Devine, with his crew of eight men and the cook, were landed at T wharf by Captain Charles A. Turner of the fishing schooner Marion E. Turner today.

Fire broke out in the after cabin while the captain and the cook were eating lunch and the crew was out attending to the trawls, nine miles off Thatcher's Island, shortly before 2 o'clock yesterday.

In less than twenty minutes after the blaze was discovered it ate its way forward to the big gasoline tank that supplied power for the auxiliary engine. The captain and the cook barely escaped, being only fifty feet off in a dory when the vessel blew up.

The glare of the flames, in the meantime, attracted the attention of the crew who hastened toward the doomed vessel. They decided to lay to until relief came at 9 o'clock last night, when they were picked up by the Marion E. Turner.

The only things saved were nine dories, the trawls and the clothing they wore.

Captain Devine, following his arrival at the wharf, told about the burning of the schooner. John Lawrence, the cook; Clarence Thompson, Wilfred Penney, Fred Muse, Charles Townsend and Timothy Downey were the members of the crew which came to Boston with the Captain.

"We were off on the fishing rounds about midway between "Thatcher's Light and the Isles of Shoals," said Captain Devine. "The crew put off to look after the trawls, leaving John Lawrence, the cook, and myself on board. Every dory on the vessel was lowered over the side, as there was more work than usual to be done and the departure of the crew left us without a boat.

The Captain's Story.

"About half past one the cook went below in the after cabin to fill the lamps. About half an hour later he came back on deck and he and I went into the forecastle to get a cup of coffee.

"We remained there perhaps twenty minutes. When we appeared on deck again smoke was pouring from the cabin, and through the small windows we could see flames licking up the side walls. Each of us seized deck buckets. These we filled with water and threw into the cabin in the hope of drowning the blaze, but it was no use.

"The flames gained on us and we were gradually driven to the front of the after. The gasoline tank, which contained more than 250 gallons, was situated directly over the cabin. I thought every minute the tank would explode, so the cook and I, helpless without a dory, climbed out on the bowsprit. Fortunately, the schooner headed up into the wind and the smoke and flames were swept aft, so neither of us could have lived in the intense heat.

"Perched out on the end of the bowsprit, the cook and I kept our eyes glued on the gasoline tank, fearful lest there was a muffled roar, the seams of the tank opened and a flood of flame would sweep the aft deck, carrying everything before it.

Desperate Situation.

"Our position was becoming desperate when I chanced to see Wilfred Penney rowing like mad for the rails. He was a mile away when he first saw the smoke, but thought it was only the engine. When he looked the second time, however, he saw the flames and immediately started for the boat. He arrived none too soon and was exhausted after his long pull.

"I could see the others swarming for the ship on all sides, so I determined to try and save some of the gear. Fortunately, I rummaged about in the smoke. What clothing and other articles I could gather I stuffed into bags and dropped over the side into Penney's dory.

"Just at the time the Rebecca, bound for Boone Island, Maine, on a fishing trip, drove into sight and Nickerson was taken aboard. I remained on the ship. The Rebecca passed on to the schooner Marion E. Turner, which had sighted the blaze from a distance and came along side to lend a hand. I stuck to the Leo until 9 o'clock and by that time the vessel was a seething furnace from stem to stern and we made up in the Marion E. Turner and were picked up."

The Leo was owned by J. J. Leonard of No. 160 Charles street, Boston. The vessel was valued at $4,000. The crew of the Gresham were notified of the fire and they started for the scene. If the vessel has not sunk it will probably be blown up, as it is a menace to navigation.

Richeson Gaining in Health: Witness Today's Breakfast

Ex-Pastor Under Death Sentence Steadily Improves as Result of Jail Exercise.

Clarence V. T. Richeson, who must die in the electric chair at Charlestown Prison during the week of May 19, is steadily improving in health as a result of the exercise Sheriff Quinn now allows him to take. As evidence that Richeson is eating well, here is what he had for breakfast today:

Three oranges, two apples, bunch of grapes, figs.
Six pieces of toast.
Piece of steak.

Richeson's meals are brought in from a restaurant near the jail. He is given anything to eat he asks for, as are all prisoners under sentence of death. He has been much more cheerful of late, his jailers say, and is looking stronger and better than he has for weeks.

M'GETTRICK AND HIS LEAGUE MAKE BROOKLINE RAID

Attorney Felix W. McGettrick and his "Law Enforcement League" got busy in Brookline today with the result that seven of the leading druggists and clerks were summoned into court to answer charges of unlawfully and illegally selling intoxicating liquors. This was the first move on the part of McGettrick and the league since the exclusive Country Club was raided. North Shore hotels were raided last Summer upon complaint of the league. McGettrick refuses to tell who the league is or are.

Those who appeared in court today were Edward W. B. McClellan, proprietor of a drug store in Harvard square, Brookline, and his clerk, W. H. Carberry; Ernest Horton, proprietor of the Beaconsfield Pharmacy at No. 1,621 Beacon street, Brookline, and his clerk, Leonard Parent; George A. Hooper of Louis W. Keefe, clerks in the drug store at No. 135 Cypress street; and William Waldner, proprietor of a drug store at No. 144 Cypress street.

Attorney Daniel Daley appeared for the last three mentioned, and upon agreement of counsel and Chief of Police Corey, the case was continued until Saturday. The defendants were held in $100 each, which was furnished.

CRACK SHOT FROM WEST CALLS $50 FINE A "HOLDUP"

John Williams, thirty-eight, giving his residence in Dewer, Col., was fined $50 today by Judge Henry W. Bragg in the Charlestown Police Court for discharging a thirty-eight-calibre revolver three times in Charlestown Jail. Williams, as he passed over the $50 to Clerk of Courts Smith, remarked: "Gee, it is the worst holdup I ever got, even in Denver." According to Patrolman Connolly, who made the arrest, Williams was dressed in the height of fashion. While walking over the Charlestown bridge he fired three shots in the water. In explaining his act to Judge Bragg, Williams said: "Why, your honor, out in Denver we often do this to see if our revolvers which we carry to protect our lives are in working order."

FREAK HALIBUT, WITH UNDERGILLS, BROUGHT TO PORT

Captain William King of the fishing schooner Angie Clinton put into Boston today with the story of how a freak halibut was caught by John Gerlina of his crew off Plymouth. The fish had well-developed under gills, as well as the usual set on the upper side, and weighed eighteen pounds.

"If I didn't have the critter with me I should never tell about it," said Captain King. "T. R. would be classifying me with the nature fakirs." The fish caused much interest among the local fishermen.

SENATE TAKES ITS FINAL VOTE TODAY ON PRIMARY BILL

The Senate this afternoon took its final vote, this time on enactment, on the presidential preference bill. If the bill goes to Governor Foss he will sign it.

The Massachusetts Roosevelt committee today received from Senator Joseph M. Dixon, national Roosevelt chairman, a telegram of congratulation for the success of the presidential preference bill in the Legislature.

STEAMER STUCK FAST ON ROCKS

NEW BEDFORD, March 12.—Losing her course in a snow squall today, the steamer L. B. Shaw from Bristol, Pa., loaded with 500 tons of water pipe consigned to the city of New Bedford, ran ashore on the rocks off West Island, where she now rests, leaking badly.

A large tow was sent to the steamer's bow and she began to take in water almost as soon as she struck. Captain Dakayne came ashore in a small boat and telephoned for assistance. The tug Hercules quickly responded and soon was alongside the steamer, tightly wedged in the rocks. It was apparent the tug could not move the craft until at least part of the cargo was removed and returned to this city to get a lighter.

155 OPIUM ARRESTS.

OAKLAND, Cal., March 12.—The police made 155 arrests and seized several thousand dollars' worth of opium in a raid on Chinatown early today.

"Lift Cup," Girl Tells Lipton Denver Miss Jilts Yachtsman

MISS RUTH BOETTCHER AND SIR THOMAS LIPTON.

This is the first picture published in Boston of Miss Boettcher, daughter of rich Denver man.

"Do Something, Get a Reputation," Recipe She Gave for Winning Her Favor.

Sir Thomas Lipton, international good fellow, associate of European royalty and England's greatest bachelor catch, has been rejected by an American girl, say stories cabled today from London. She is Miss Ruth Boettcher of Denver.

And because of the failure of the spirited girl to fall a captive to the genial tea merchant and leading sporting spirit across the Big Waters, Miss Boettcher becomes the centre of interest today among the fair Americans of the younger set.

After a trip around the world, leaving a crimson trail of pierced hearts, Miss Boettcher has returned to America. But it was not from here that the story of her conquests and of THE conquest came. That was done abroad. And from there the heroes who fell before the glance of the Denver girl is reported to be no less a social lion than Lord Kitchener of Khartoum fame.

He Met His Waterloo.

Miss Boettcher was entertained by Sir Thomas in London. At entertaining there are few men more gifted. At his table there gathered youth and beauty and as the Brussels ball on the night before the battle of Waterloo,

"Bright the lamps shone o'er
Fair women and brave men."

And it was right then and there—Sir Thomas met his Waterloo after fighting a thousand similar battles and coming out covered with bachelor medals.

Miss Boettcher, according to the cabled story, told Lim breezily something like this:

"Sir Thomas, if you want to make a favorable impression in me, you must do something. Get a reputation. Lift the cup. Keep on tryin'. You know just to make a bo of money's nothing. That's the way we look at things in Colorado."

"Just Like Ruth."

With these encouraging words buzzing in his ears and his heart going pit-a-pat, Miss Boettcher left Sir Thomas standing on the dock and returned to America.

In Denver society Miss Boettcher is well known. And when they heard this story they all said:

"Well, isn't that just like Ruth?"

Miss Boettcher is not looking for money. Her father has plenty of it, even if she had her heart set on such material things, which she hasn't. Her father, Charles Boettcher, is interested in mining, beet sugar planting and various electric railroad and power properties. The girl is only twenty-four years old, and she was born in Denver. A young man who gave the facts herein recited went to school with the young woman and has known her well since those days.

She graduated from Miss Wolcott's school, did a lot of other studying, which included seeing outdoors—and there's a lot of it in Colorado to do—and was soon out in the leader of her society set.

Dancer and Horsewoman.

Here is how Miss Boettcher looks: She is five feet five inches tall. She weighs about 128 pounds. Her hair is dark brown and there is a great quantity of it. Her eyes are dark brown and capable of taking on other hues. With a graceful figure Miss Boettcher is a dancer of likeness. The young woman made a hit as the leading solo dancer in a Kirmess held in Denver before she started on her globe-trotting.

The heights of the mountains and the reaches of the plains always appealed to Miss Boettcher. She learned to ride as a child. On her father's big ranch in Mount Counly she soon became the best horsewoman in a State where about everybody rides.

Foxhall Keene of New York and a party of friends were in Colorado four years ago playing polo. Mr. Keene thought it would be a grand idea to get up a riding party from Colorado Springs to the Half Way House on Pike's Peak.

"Miss Boettcher," said Mr. Keene, "you must be one of the party."

"No, I think not, Mr. Keene," replied the young woman. "I do not care much for this high-society horsemanship. I like real riding such as we have on father's ranch."

Miss Boettcher owns two automobiles and runs them herself. But if she really wants a spin that will put pink in her cheeks and a sparkle in her eyes, she saddles her favorite horse and lopes out into the open.

SHAW REQUISITION PAPERS ARE HONORED

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 12.—Governor Johnson has honored requisition papers for the return of Arthur W. Shaw, president of the A. W. Shaw Shoe Company, of Freeport, Me., who disappeared from Freeport with funds of the company, and who is under indictment in Boston on charges of larceny.

Shaw is under arrest at Los Angeles, where inspectors of the Boston Police Department are waiting, and he will be sent back to Boston to face trial. He was arrested upon evidence furnished by the Boston AMERICAN.

IN BANKRUPTCY COURT.

Sam K. Paige, a lawyer, of No. 52 Harrison street, Brookline, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy today with liabilities of $14,047, unsecured, and assets of $12,208, which consist of claims due on an account of a face value of $24,727.

250,000 HANDS TO GET RAISE

Great Army of Textile Workers in New England Expect 5 to 7 Per Cent. Advance in Wages.

Lawrence Strikers' Committee Again to Confer at State House Tomorrow on Plans for Peace

As a result of the fight being made in Lawrence for better pay in the textile mills, and the revelations that have followed, attracting the attention of the nation to the mills, it was estimated today that by April 1 between 250,000 and 300,000 mill hands in New England would be in receipt of pay from 5 to 7 per cent. higher than they received when the Lawrence strike began.

In the Lawrence strike situation it was planned for the sub-committee of the strike committee to go to the State House tomorrow for another conference with mill men and the legislative committee on the acceptance of the new schedule of wages offered by the American Woolen Company. The average raise of pay in this schedule is a little more than 7½ per cent.

Preparing the Schedules.

Officials of the American Woolen Company conferred today with clerks employed in the different of the mills preparing the schedule of wages to be paid after the increases promised by the mill men are granted.

This schedule, it was positively announced, will be ready tomorrow and will then be submitted to the strikers' committee at noon tomorrow.

It is this schedule which the strike committee has asked to see before they consider any offers of settlement. When it is ready, the general belief in Lawrence is that peace will be but a matter of taking the vote of the striking operatives.

The offer, it is understood, will be an average of 7½ per cent. increase to all employes, the lower-paid workers being favored with larger increases. The raise as high as 15 per cent. No employe will receive less than 5 per cent. increase.

This will affect all the mills of the company, and according to the officials will cut one-third off the annual income from the mills.

The New Bedford Textile Council, through their secretary, Francis J. Duffy, today sent a letter to the New Bedford Cotton Manufacturers' Association formally demanding a raise of 10 per cent. in their wages. This was the result of a meeting of the Textile Council last night.

The spinners of New Bedford also had a meeting at which they agreed that they were entitled to a raise of 10 per cent. There are about 30,000 cotton operatives in New Bedford.

In Taunton today a general increase in wages from 3 to 8 per cent. which will affect 1,200 hands was announced by the Whittendon Manufacturing Company of Taunton, and the increase will mean an additional yearly cost to the company of $40,000.

Cadets Relieved from Duty.

Today the First Corps Cadets were relieved from duty at Lawrence. They include four companies, or about 240 men. Their withdrawal followed a telephone conference between Adjutant General Gardner W. Pearson at Lawrence and Governor Foss.

To replace the Cadets, there went to Lawrence Battery A. Other troops are expected, but what companies is not yet known. The Worcester and Clinton companies are now in Lawrence. The withdrawal of the First Corps, and their replacement by Battery A, will relieve the militia strength in Lawrence by about one hundred men.

In the Police Court at Lawrence today Judge Mahoney imposed fines aggregating $145 on men and women charged with intimidation of mill workers.

Frances Lawless, who tried to rescue her brother from a policeman yesterday while he was being taken into the station house, was fined $10. The brother, Tony Coombes, was fined a similar amount.

Vincenzo George was charged with intimidation of mill workers and was fined $300 and appealed, forfeiting surety of $300.

30,000 in Fall River.

At Fall River there are about 30,000 cotton operatives, also, and it is expected that they will ask for a raise of wages. In Rhode Island it is predicted that the mills there would be forced to fall in line with the general advance of pay that is sweeping through the textile centres of the country.

John Golden of Fall River, president of the Textile Workers of America, in an interview today said:

"It looks as though there would have to be a general increase in all textile centres of the country. An increase is needed in this city just the same as anywhere else, and I see no reason to believe but what the manufacturers will take the proper view of conditions and give the operatives what they deserve."

NEW BEDFORD WORKERS DEMAND BIG INCREASE

Notices of a 5 per cent. wage raise were posted today in Maine and New Hampshire cotton mills employing 35,000 hands, the increase going into effect yesterday.

The 3,500 employes of the Parkhill, Fitchburg, Grant, Star, Orswell and Nockege cotton cloth mills, farm mills in Fitchburg and 2,000 at the Lancaster gingham mills, Clinton, a plant controlled by the Parkhill mills, were notified of an advance to begin a week hence.

Among other plants which advanced the pay of the employes were Nanuskeag Cotton Mills, Salem, 1,700 hands; Otis Cotton Mills, Ware, 1,400; Merrimac Woolen Mills, Dracut, 500; Saxonville Woolen Mills, Saxonville, 500; Talbot Woolen Mills and Tewksbury Woolen Mills, North Billerica, 1,000; York cotton Mills, Saco, Me., 2,500; Stark Cotton Duck Mills, Manchester.

All the mills of Manchester, N. H., including the seven-cent cotton mills of the Amoskeag corporation, employing 15,500; the seven cotton mills of Lewiston and cotton plants at Biddeford, Brunswick, Augusta, Me., and other places began work on the advanced schedule, as foreshadowed last Saturday.

Raise 30,000 in Lowell.

—For 30,000 operatives of Lowell and the 3,000 of Salem are to get an advance before the end of the month.

A committee of stationary firemen in the Lawrence mills was instructed today to make a demand on the mills for an advance of pay of 15 per cent.

Today was quiet in Lawrence, there being but one arrest in connection with picketing the mills.

The conference at the State House yesterday did not take place, as the result of a misunderstanding. The strike committee was ready for the conference, but received no word to go to Boston. Chairman George H. Ellis of the House Committee declares that he sent such a notice. The conference will be held today, it is believed.

Summonses under the order of notice issued by the Supreme Court directing six leaders of the strike to appear and show cause why an injunction should not be granted restraining the strike committee from using the strike fund, were served on William D. Haywood and Wilfrid Trautman by Deputy Sheriff Fred N. Abbott. A subpoena in equity was served also on William Yates. Each man received money to pay his expenses to Boston.

The strike committee met this afternoon to consider the situation, but adjourned until tomorrow, when a statement of the receipts and expenditures by the committee.

Report on Children.

The committee appointed by Judge Mahoney of the police court to investigate the cases of nineteen children who were before the court on charges of neglected children reported today. These children were taken away from their parents and members of the strike committee at the North Station four weeks ago when they were about to start for Philadelphia.

In all but two of the cases the committee recommended that the cases be dismissed, and Judge Mahoney so ordered today. The cases of Pearl and William Brown, children of Mrs. Rosa Brown of No. 2 Clyde lane, were continued until March 29 upon the recommendation of the committee, who want further time to satisfy themselves that the mother will properly provide for the two children.

The committee was composed of City Solicitor Daniel J. Murphy, Probation Officer Thomas J. Meneraay, Rev. Clark Carter, city missionary; Attorney George L. Bowser, Jr., and Attorney John F. Lynch, representing the strikers.

In making the report for the committee, City Solicitor Murphy said:

"The children's committee appointed by Your Honor, including counsel for the defence and prosecution and the City Missionary, the Rev. Clark Carter, after careful investigation of the cases before it recommend that in all the cases but two, those of the Brown children, be dismissed. There was no question of law involved in these cases, but a question of fact. As to the Brown children, I would like to have their cases continued. I have talked to City Missionary Carter and he takes the middle ground, saying that we should wait until the parent could take care of the children. We can continue these two cases pending a further investigation as to whether the parents, the mother will properly provide and support the two children.

GASOLINE BLOWS UP; CHAUFFEUR BURNED

M. J. Shannon, a chauffeur employed by Forrest S. Smith of No. 50 Selkirk road, Brighton, was badly burned about the hands and face today when a can of gasoline exploded in the garage in the rear of the house. Shannon was filling the gasoline tank of a new auto when the gasoline caught fire. He fought the fire with blankets and a garden hose until the fire apparatus arrived. The automobile was damaged about $100 and the garage several hundred.

URGE MOTHERS' PENSION BILL

Legislators and social workers appeared before the legislative Ways and Means Committee today to argue for a commission to study the matter of pensioning widowed mothers. Representative Benjamin F. Haines of Medford said that the plan is not a charity in any sense of the word, but that it is an attempt on the part of the State to recompense mothers of hard-working and unfortunate mothers for a service they have already performed to the Commonwealth.

Mrs. Glen C. Parks, the author of the measure before the committee, said that her experience had been that the present system of charity falls down lamentably in that it practically eliminates the responsible, healthy mothers. These, she said, would allow their own health and that of their children to suffer before they would ask for charity. Investigation had revealed, she went on, that many of the tuberculosis cases among children developed in that class. The private charities, Mrs. Parks said, also fall down, and a person interested in them had told her that 97 per cent. of all the widows who applied to them for aid were refused it therefore the 3per cent. of their children is a result of it.

CAMORRA CASE IS LIKELY TO COLLAPSE

VITERBO, Italy, March 12.—Action which may result in the collapse of the case against all the remaining Camorrist prisoners was taken today, when the crown's prosecutor withdrew the State's accusations against Luigi Arena, the Camorrist who is alleged to have incited the double Cuocolo murder in Naples.

SHILLALAH FOR THE PRESIDENT

Mayor Fitzgerald today received from ex-Mayor John F. Hurley of Salem a shillalah which was made by S. I. E. Graves of that city. It was accompanied by a note requesting that it be given to President Taft to carry on March 18 during the parade in South Boston.

The shillalah was made from a tree that was cut down on May 13, 1911, which, it is claimed, was grown from a slip of the weeping willow that grew over the grave of Napoleon at St. Helena.

Fitted in the end of the shillalah is a piece of wood taken from the Washington Elm in Cambridge, and on which is carved the letter W. There is also a piece of wood taken from the Paul Revere bell in Lexington, and on which is carved it. Inside the shillalah is a token from the historic battlefield at Lexington, and in commemoration of Lincoln a Lincoln penny has been imbedded in the stick. On the side of the club is a silver plate giving its history, and to add to its ornate appearance it has been decorated by red, white and blue ribbons, and also a green ribbon.

ENGLISH STRIKE PEACE PROMISE

LONDON, March 12.—A marked step toward peace in the British coal strike which has already caused a national loss estimated at over $100,000,000, was taken today, when the coal mine owners adopted Premier Asquith's plan for a conference between the operators, representatives of the government and the miners' executive leaders. The operators rescind their decision at a long conference which was marked by a heated debate.

Why Salves Can't Cure Eczema

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and cannot penetrate to the inner skin before the epidermis, where the eczema germs are lodged.

The only quality of penetrating—probably explains the tremendous success of the well known liquid eczema remedy, oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., compounded in D.D.D. Prescription.

Just a few drops of the simple, cooling wash, the D.D.D. Prescription for eczema, and the itch stops instantly.

Dr. Holmes, the well-known skin specialist, writes: "I am convinced that the D.D.D. Prescription is as much a specific for eczema as quinine for malaria. We have been prescribing the D.D.D. remedy for years."

We have sold other remedies for skin troubles, but none that we can recommend as highly as this, for we know that D.D.D. Prescription is an article we can give you a trial size bottle for 25 cents that will be enough to prove it.

Of course, all other druggists have D.D.D. Prescription—go to them if you can't come to us—but don't accept some big profit substitute.

But if you come to our store, we are so certain of what D.D.D. will do for you that we offer you a full-size bottle on this guarantee—If you do not find that it takes away the itch AT ONCE it costs you not a cent.

Women Plan Aid for Mrs. Cusumano

Will Conduct Faneuil Hall Mass Meeting

Mrs. Spooner Sends Off Call to Protest Death Penalty for Convicted Woman.

I am greatly in favor of the meeting to be held in Faneuil Hall Saturday evening, March 16, and I take this opportunity to urge upon all who are interested in this matter to attend. For years, as many of my friends know, I have striven to present the justice of this cause and I feel that a mass meeting of this kind will do much to bring the attention before the public in the right manner. Many who did not attend the hearings at the State House because of the inopportune time, will find it possible to be at Faneuil Hall next Saturday night.—Miss Florence Spooner, head of Anti-Death-Penalty Movement in Massachusetts.

A call was sent out to-day by Mrs. Florence Spooner, head of the Anti-Death Penalty Movement in Massachusetts for a mass meeting to be held in Faneuil Hall next Saturday night, to protest against the execution of Mrs. Lena Cusumano, convicted of the murder of her husband.

If she goes to the electric chair she will be the first woman ever executed in Massachusetts. A movement has been started to ask the Governor and Council to commute her sentence to life imprisonment. Unless her sentence is commuted she will die in the electric chair at Charlestown prison during the week beginning June 2.

For years the opponents of the death penalty in this State have been fighting before the Legislature for its abolition. Now that a woman faces death in the chair the opponents of the death penalty feel that public sentiment is opposed to executing a woman, and that this public sentiment should be crystallized into a formal protest. As a result this mass meeting, to be held in Faneuil Hall on Saturday night, has been called.

Noted Speakers to Attend.

Speakers who have already volunteered include Mrs. Florence Spooner, head of the Anti-Death Penalty Movement; H. H. Pagan, lawyer; Rev. William van Allen, rector of the Church of the Advent; Representative Frank H. Pope, of Leominster, and Representative Edward R. C. Bagley of East Boston.

Resolutions will be presented asking the Governor to spare the life of Mrs. Cusumano for the sake of the fair name of the Commonwealth.

Thomas J. Grady, counsel for the woman at her trial in Plymouth with Harry Marshall, convicted on her accomplice, declares that he is convinced that the woman did not commit or take part in the murder, and that she only knew of it after it was over. He is already at work securing the woman's own story from her and this will be presented to the Governor.

Preachers Take Up Plan.

The abolition of the death penalty has already been discussed by the Congregational ministers of this city, who held an enthusiastic meeting under the presidency of the Rev. Dr. A. Z. Conrad, pastor of the Park Street Church.

Several hearings have already been held at the State House. But the general public has had little to do with these gatherings, and the present meeting will be open to all, where the case will fairly and reasonably be presented by well-known speakers.

Mrs. Spooner, in calling this mass meeting, says:

"I am greatly in favor of the meeting to be held in Faneuil Hall Saturday evening, March 16, and I take this opportunity to urge upon all who are interested in this matter to attend.

"For years, as many of my friends know, I have striven to present the justice of this cause, and I feel that a mass meeting of this kind will do much to bring it in the right way before the public.

Urges All to Attend.

"Many well-known speakers have been invited to address this mass meeting, and every one should make an effort to attend. It will be well worth the attention of every one who is interested in the advocacy of a principle and not a mere sentiment.

Much interest is already centered in this meeting after the hearing at the State House and it will give the speakers an opportunity to express themselves about the case of Mrs. Cusumano.

NEW TUNNEL IN 2 WEEKS, MAYBE

That the new Cambridge subway may be opened within two weeks was to-day expressed today by President William A. Bancroft of the "L." He said:

"Work is being rushed on the new Cambridge subway and we hope to open it soon by the two weeks, but we will not promise anything. The work is progressing satisfactorily."

The tube from Park street to Harvard square will be made in eight sections, including stops.

WOMEN GO TO ALBANY TO PLEAD SUFFRAGE

NEW YORK, March 12.—Five hundred women, representing various suffrage organizations, left in a special section of the Empire State Express for Albany to-night to appear before the Legislature in the interest of the suffrage cause. Before the train left the enginemen had been converted to the cause and a "Votes for women" button fastened on them. Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch led the delegation.

METROPOLITAN PLAN CLASH

Ex-Representative Sidney B. Keene of Somerville and Lieutenant-Governor Robert Luce of the same city are at loggerheads over the Metropolitan Planning Commission's plans for a Greater Boston.

At a recent banquet of the Somerville Board of Trade Lieutenant-Governor Luce came out strongly in favor of the commission. At a regular meeting of the board last night ex-Representative Keene attacked the position of Lieutenant-Governor Luce on this matter in vigorous language, and it resulted in the Somerville Board of Trade going on record by an almost unanimous vote against the proposition.

FATAL FREIGHT WRECK.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 12.—Edward F. Leonard, a freight conductor, was killed in a wreck on the main line of the New York Central road near Depew, N. Y., yesterday. Leonard was in charge of an extra freight which had stopped at Meadow Brook, and a freight crashed into the caboose.

THE REAL VALUE OF YOUR FOOD

What You Eat Does Not Nourish You Unless It Is Digested.

One of the commonest ailments of the day is inability to derive benefit from the food taken. Food that does not digest is worse than wasted. A complaint frequently heard by doctors is that the food eaten does no good.

Food that fails to digest ferments. Gas forms in the stomach and the acids of fermentation cause heartburn. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are a digestive tonic and give new strength by enabling the blood to take up and profit by the food we eat. They double the value of the food to the body, increase the appetite, renew energy, vitality, snap and vigor.

Mrs. Curtis Sidle, of No. 71 West Larwill street, Wooster, Ohio, says: "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People deserve the highest praise that can be given them. About eight years ago I was suffering greatly from indigestion and nervousness. I was sick for six years. My blood was in bad condition and nothing that I ate agreed with me. I would have spells when my heart palpitated so that I would have to lie down. The constant suffering made me very nervous and weak. Our doctor said my trouble was indigestion but I could not see that he helped me although I doctored with him for over two years. I was naturally discouraged and later when a friend urged me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People I bought a few boxes for a trial. In a few days I saw a great change. I found that I could eat without so much distress and began to feel better in every way. I took ten boxes of the pills and was cured."

Don't go about your treatment blindly but start today to cure your indigestion by using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. The experience of other sufferers has been that their stomach trouble disappeared as soon as the blood was made pure and rich.

Every sufferer from indigestion, gas on the stomach, acid stomach, catarrh of the stomach or nervous dyspepsia should read our booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat." It is free upon postal card request.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50c. per box; six boxes, $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

ROB ENDICOTT SUMMER HOME

DANVERS, March 12.—It was discovered today that Danvers Highlands, formerly the home of William C. Endicott, Secretary of War under President Cleveland and at present the Summer home of William C. Endicott, a Boston attorney, was looted last night. The thieves gained an entrance by forcing a rear window. Every room in the old mansion was ransacked and the contents of drawers, desks, bureaus and cabinets scattered about the floor.

The house is unoccupied. Attorney Endicott is spending March with his family in their town house in Boston.

CHURCH FIRE LOSS $50,000

The interior of the Clarendon Street Baptist Church was ruined and a damage estimated at $50,000 was the result at a fire which broke out in the auditorium and necessitated the ringing of three alarms.

When the fire started, a meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society was in progress in the basement. These people knew nothing of the fire raging over their heads till their meeting was over.

Slate falling from the roof and stucco and plaster falling inside the church made it dangerous for the firemen to approach the fire for a time. At one time the bell in the steeple toiled one, and the crowd was pushed back for fear the lofty belfry should fall.

On the Montgomery street side seventeen had a narrow escape. The great metal ladder was placed against the pitched roof, when the streams of slate began to fall and District Chief Eva ordered the men on the ladder to come down. Three minutes later the ladder snapped in two and the upper portion crashed to the ground.

The fire was discovered by Assistant Engineer Bernard Nolan of Engine 3, temporarily assigned to Engine 22 on Warren avenue, and whose quarters are near one side of the church. He was passing through Clarendon street and ran to quarters, giving a still alarm.

District Chief Byron, whose headquarters are with Engine 22, at once sounded an alarm from box 71 and a second and a third quickly followed.

Before the fire engines arrived the meeting in the basement of the church had come to a close. Forty were among thirty present at this meeting, including twenty women. The meeting was led by Miss Cox and Miss Nellie Dexter of the Y. W. C. A., who was accompanying the singing on the piano.

Mayor Fitzgerald, who came on the third alarm, received a setting at Clarendon and Montgomery streets, when a box was being shifted. He dodged to a safer place while the crowd in his vicinity cheered him.

The Rev. James A. Francis, pastor of the church, who lives at No. 61 Bolyston street, got up from a sick bed and went to the scene in his anxiety for the church records. When it was found that these were in safe keeping elsewhere, the Rev. Mr. Francis was persuaded to return home.

The church was built forty-two years ago and is one of the landmarks of the South End.

25 AUTOS BURNED IN PITTSBURG FIRE

PITTSBURG, March 12.—Twenty-five automobiles belonging to down-town business and professional men were destroyed in a fire at the Manchester Garage Company's Charriers and Pavers streets early today. The fire was due to the explosion of a gasoline tank on an incoming car.

Another Woman in Grace Shooting Case

Wife of Victim Accuses Letter-Writer

NEW PICTURES OF MRS. DAISY GRACE, WHO DENIES SHOOTING HER HUSBAND

ATLANTA, Ga., March 12.—The Grace case took a sensational turn when Mrs. Daisy Opie Grace, held in jail on the charge of shooting her husband, declared he was shot by a woman with whom he was friendly prior to his marriage.

She resented his marriage to me," Mrs. Grace is reported to have said, "and she threatened to be revenged. She shot him and she has been writing letters upon which the prosecution hopes to convict me."

Mrs. Grace did not give the woman's name, but it is known that she refers to a pretty woman to whom Grace was attentive for two years prior to his marriage. Just what evidence there is against this woman Mrs. Grace's lawyers refuse to divulge.

Grace, through his attorneys, has consented to the annulment of the $25,000 policy on his life written by the Mutual two days before he was shot.

Mrs. Grace, formerly Mrs. Dale, of Philadelphia, denied the authorship of two letters said to have been sent to her at Newnan, Ga., and purporting to have come from her husband, in both of which his contemplated trip to Philadelphia had been abandoned and that "a friend" would spend the night with him, while Mrs. Grace was with her parents in the Georgia town.

"If I knew who wrote those letters, I would know who shot my husband," declared Mrs. Grace.

It is believed that the mystery surrounding the shooting will be partially cleared when Mrs. Grace is arraigned for preliminary hearing Wednesday.

Mrs. Grace steadily asserts her innocence, and declares that she can prove that she did not shoot her husband.

During the past twenty-four hours Grace has not seen as empathic in his expressions of determination to prove his wife. He now says that he will divorce her as soon as he recovers, but has said little of appearing against her in criminal action.

"I am lonely, oh, so lonely!" she told her lawyer. In the jail there is not another white woman. Only occasionally she sees her jail attendant. She persists in her declaration of love for her husband. She says that the one thing in life that she wants most is not her freedom, but to be able to be with him and to nurse him.

She refuses to believe that he has announced his intention of divorcing her if he recovers. She has discarded all her jewelry, her magnificent rings and bracelets and earrings, and is wearing only the plainest gold ring her husband, given her shortly after her marriage to him.

SUFFRAGISTS TO STORM CAPITOL

Mrs. Susan Y. FitzGerald and Mrs. Alice Stone Blackwell will leave for Washington tonight to take part in the arguments before the two congressional committees tomorrow favoring a constitutional amendment to the effect that no one shall be deprived of a vote on account of sex. Many prominent suffragists from all over the country will appear before the committee. Mrs. FitzGerald and Mrs. Blackwell will be escorted to the train by fellow-workers in the Boston Equal Suffrage Association for Good Government.

The significant feature of the campaign is that their cause will be championed from the floor by men of such calibre as Senators Borrow and Irwin, Governor Johnson of California and Louis D. Brandeis.

On the arrival of the trains in Washington the suffragists will go directly to the Senate in order that seats may be secured. They have threatened to storm the Capitol, to fill the galleries, to circulate in the corridors and patrol the entrance. Legislators will find their way blocked at every turn by the wearers of badges reading "Votes for Women." Streamers and sashes will flash the signal from the gown of every woman passed.

At the hearing the Rev. Anna H. Shaw, president of the National Association, will be the leader in the Senate, and Jane Addams of Hull House in the House.

DEMOCRATS CARRY FOUR MAINE CITIES

PORTLAND, Me., March 12.—Democrats elected four Mayors to one Republican in five city elections in this State. In each instance the Democratic Mayor received another term. Governor Frederick W. Plaisted's appeal to Augusta Democrats that the re-election of Mayor Ruel J. Noyes was vital to Democratic success in September vets successful.

The other Mayors elected were: Charles W. Mullen, Democrat, Bangor; Edgar F. Hanson, Democrat, Belfast; Albert C. Wardle, Democrat, Biddeford, and Victor Mutty, Republican, Brewer.

KELIHER MUST TAKE SENTENCE

Although the last day of the sixty allowed to William J. (Big Bill) Keliher to take an appeal from the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals affirming the sentence of eighteen years in prison for complicity in the looting of the National City Bank of Cambridge, expires tonight, it is not probable that he will be brought into court for an affirmation of the sentence before Saturday.

That Keliher will not take an appeal to the Supreme Court at Washington is now certain.

The reason for the delay in final affirmation of the sentence lies in the fact that United States District Attorney French is out of town and Mr. French wishes to be present when Keliher is again brought into court.

It has been stated that Keliher would seek a reduction of his sentence on the ground that he has already served over a year while waiting for the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals on his appeal. Mr. French, it is understood, will oppose this.

GETS TWO FORTUNES BY CHANGING NAME

NEW YORK, March 12.—The second fortune through the change or a name has come to Frederick C. Hicks of Minneapolis, heir of former Congressman William W. Cocks. Frederick C. Cocks was adopted several years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin B. Hicks of Worth, millions. Mr. Hicks desired to adopt the son of his old friend. It was finally agreed to and Frederick Cocks became Frederick Hicks, his name being changed by the court.

Some years ago Benjamin Hicks died and left his fortune to his adopted son. She left $240,000 to her adopted son. Mrs. Hicks died on February 16 in Manhattan. She left $240,000 to her adopted son.

NO MORE DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR ITCHY SCALP IF YOU DO THIS

Your Hair Looks Soft, Fluffy, Lustrous and Abundant After a Danderine Hair Cleanse.

Immediate? — Yes. Certain? — that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

A delightful surprise awaits, particularly those who have been careless, whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Try as you will, you cannot find any dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will never itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use of Danderine, when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, you surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

ROOSEVELT HUNT HELPED BY CARNEGIE

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 12.—Andrew Carnegie contributed $20,000 to help meet the expenses of Colonel Roosevelt's African expedition, but the aid was advanced after Carnegie talked with Colonel Wolcott of the Smithsonian Institute. Mr. Carnegie issued a statement here bearing upon the subject in which he said: "Of that story (that Carnegie gave $20,000 for the African trip) has been brought out as an attack on Colonel Roosevelt. In my opinion it will only benefit him."

BIG TAFT RALLY FOR VERMONT

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The policy of the administration is to meet a Roosevelt fire in New England with a bucket brigade to extinguish the flame, and the same may be said of the rest of the country. Wherever a Roosevelt spark is kindled a Taft bucket brigade in the form of orators and workers prepare to play on the exposed point.

THEODORE C. BATES DEAD AT WORCESTER

WORCESTER, March 12.—Theodore C. Bates, for a long time one of the political leaders in Worcester County, and widely prominent in State politics, is dead at his home, No. 29 Harvard street, of pneumonia. He was sixty-nine years old. He is survived by a widow and one daughter. He was one of the founders of the Home Market Club of Boston.

PUBLIC DANGER
You Cannot Afford to Miss Reading This
We believe it is our duty to inform the public that the majority of fatal cases of pneumonia are caused by the patient taking for a cold some so-called cough cure which depends upon poisonous drugs for its effect.
These drugs deaden the nerves and stop secretion along the breathing tract —that causes pneumonia.
Father John's Medicine cures colds and throat and lung troubles without poisonous drugs. It is not a patent medicine, nor cough syrup, but a body builder—an eminent specialist prescribed it for the Rev. Father John O'Brien of Lowell, Mass., fifty years ago.

Lady Warwick Predicts Women Will Sit in British Parliament Might Still Be in Jungle if Majorities Ruled, Says Countess

Thrones Tottering in the State and the Home, Declares Noblewoman.

The Countess, or if you prefer, Lady Warwick, has calmly handed out since her arrival in America some of the most radical opinions that American women have ever listened to.

In her latest talk she declares that monarchies are tottering in nations and in homes; that divorces are getting easier and freer everywhere, and, oh yes, that suffrage for women is sure to come.

The famous titled woman, beautiful still in spite of her advancing years, is a Socialist—a quiet, well-bred, mild-mannered Socialist—but with ideas, well, rather startling. And yet she's so placid and gentle as she delivers them!

President Taft has expressed a desire to meet the famous Peeress, and rather than disobey what is virtually a command the Countess decided to postpone her Boston lecture, which was set for Thursday evening at the Boston Opera House.

"I am very sorry to be forced to take this step," she writes in a letter of explanation to the management of the Boston Opera House, "for I looked forward to my visit to Boston with a great deal of pleasant anticipation; but under the circumstances I hope I will be forgiven, and that when I meet the Bostonians at a later date, my greeting will be as cordial as if no delay had occurred."

"The Babbling Brook."

A long time ago, when the Countess of Warwick was Lady Brooke, English society christened her "The Babbling Brook," because, it was said, she had told somebody, who told somebody else, who told somebody else of the famous bacarrat game at Tranby Croft at which the then Prince of Wales was present and at which an English gentleman was accused of cheating.

It was said too, that Albert Edward never forgave Lady Brooke for the indiscretion attributed to her.

One who recently met her in New York says: "Her beauty might be called an apoplectic gentleness, for her features are small and extraordinarily regular.

"Her eyes are blue stars set under slim, crescent brows. Her complexion is the pale pink of English primroses. Her hair is so flaxen white you want to spin it.

"She is tall and wore a gown of dull blue opening over a stumbered blouse of white, embroidered about the edges with blue. Under this simulated waistcoat was a very plain waist of white lawn with a very small, turnover collar and a little black tie.

Not Yet Acquainted Here.

Lady Warwick wore with this gown a black patent leather belt of the kind never seen in America except to make the conjunction of a plain shirtwaist and tailored skirt.

On her head was an enormous picture hat, with a flat, circular trimming of blue ostrich feathers.

"I haven't seen very much of America yet," said Lady Warwick, deprecatingly, to New York interviewers. It was evident that she expected them to ex-die leaving little property, and our graduates necessary to die or cancels not the impressions of America she might have earn much more than secretaries, THRONES TOTTERING IN STATE AND HOME, SAYS TITLED ENGLISH VISITOR HERE.

Marriage still remains the ideal of most young girls, but I have a little daughter of seven and I hope when she is grown up she will be one of the really emancipated women, that she will follow any career that pleases her. By the time she is seventeen she may be able to look forward to standing for Parliament.

If majorities really ruled the world we might still be in the jungle.

More and more women are awakening to the desire for economic independence. The old idea of sex slavery is dying, but it's dying hard!

A majority of women in England do not want the ballot.

The most significant movement of the world today is the rise of republics everywhere. Thrones are tottering in the state and in the home.

—From interview with Countess of Warwick.

Sees More and More Women Awakening and Demanding Economic Independence.

typists, governesses, etc., and these occupations are overcrowded while horticulture is new.

"One of our graduates now owns her own home and her own motor and is employed with the profits of vegetables. More and more girls in England are following gainful occupations, going into the professions and trades," Lady Warwick added.

"Has the idea entirely passed that the earning of money is socially detrimental to women?" was asked.

"Utterly," Lady Warwick replied.

"Would you care to have your own daughter adopt a profession—become a lawyer or doctor, for instance?"

"I would indeed. My older daughter married when she was very young.

"Marriage still remains ideal of most young girls, but I have a little daughter of seven, and I hope when she is grown up she will be one of the really emancipated women, that she will follow any career that pleases her. By the time she is seventeen she may be able to look forward to standing for Parliament.

"Of course I believe in suffrage," Lady Warwick continued. As a Socialist, I believe in adult suffrage without regard to sex. Women will get the vote in England very soon, but with a property qualification such as now applies to men.

"Window smashing on the part of suffragists is foolish nonsities, but it's ridiculous to say that it will retard the triumph of the movement. Nothing can retard it!" added Lady Warwick with a ringing note. "When half the human race demands its rights, it has to be heard."

HINTS ON HOW TO BE BEAUTIFUL

FOR SHINY NOSE—There is nothing better for removing the shine from one's nose than a lotion made by dissolving 4 ounces of spurmax in ½ pint of witch hazel (or hot water), then adding 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. This lotion is splendid for whitening and beautifying the skin and for applying to face powder, as it does not show or rub off so easily. It gives to the skin a smooth, refined appearance and is plendid for correcting a sallow complexion.

TO REMOVE HAIRY GROWTHS—It is an easy matter to rid the skin of hairs if a delatone paste is used. With some powdered delatone mix a little water. Apply paste to hairs not wanted, then after two or three minutes wipe off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. No possible harm results from using delatone, and it is almost unfailing.

HOME SHAMPOOING—Since soap and dry shampoos have been adjudged so injurious to the hair, many women prefer to do their own shampooing. Nothing better or more dependable can be found for shampooing than a teaspoonful of powdered borax in a cup of hot water. It cleanses perfectly, removing all dandruff and irritation, and leaves the hair bright and silky. The hair will dry very quickly and have a much-desired fluffiness that lasts, making hair-dressing easy.

REDUCING THE WEIGHT—The matter of fat reduction is now very simple. If one will simply dissolve 4 ounces of parnotis in 1½ pints hot water and take a tablespoonful before meals, excess fat will disappear as if by magic and without any ill effects. With this harmless remedy it is not necessary to diet or exercise violently.

TRAFFIC CLUB FEAST TONIGHT

The Traffic Club of New England will have a banquet at the Hotel Somerset tonight. There will be a reception before the banquet. The banquet will be decked in large measure to boosting the Grand Trunk's entrance to Boston. It is expected that support of the bill which would admit the great Canadian trunk line will be the keynote of the addresses.

The invited guests, some of whom will make addresses, are Governor Foss, Lieutenant-Governor Lore, Mayor Fitzgerald, Judge Charles F. Moore, who was formerly president of the Traffic Club of New York; Judge E. C. Grosscup of Chicago; James M. Beck, an ex-assistant United States attorney-general; Admiral Francis E. H. Pitzhugh, president of the southern New England Railway, a subsidiary of the Grand Trunk; Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway; Charles M. Hays, chairman of the board of directors of the Central Vermont Railway; Lucius Tuttle, H. G. Wardell, president of the New York Traffic Club; C. W. Summerhayes, secretary of the Philadelphia Traffic Club, and P. E. Sullivan, president of the Bay State Street Railway.

LAUDS PUBLIC UTILITIES PLAN

Governor Foss was praised for his pledge to make appointments to the Public Service Commission without regard to political affiliation, providing this commission is constituted, in the course of the address of Professor Bruce Wyman of the Harvard Law School before the University Club. Professor Wyman spoke in favor of the proposed commission.

PRESCRIPTION WORTH KNOWING

The following prescription is valuable to anyone with kidney or bladder trouble. Mix one half ounce murax compound, one half ounce fluid extract buchu, six ounces good rye gin. Shake well each time and take one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bed time. Any good druggist can supply or mix these ingredients. This treatment should be taken at first sign of kidney or bladder trouble to avoid development of diabetes, Bright's disease or chronic rheumatism.

WEDNESDAY—MEN'S DAY AT BOSTON'S LEADING PROGRESSIVE STORE

Tomorrow the Henry Siegel Co. Will Hold a Sale Exclusive for Men, in the Departments Located on Both the Third Floor and Main Floor, Essex St. Side—Almost Everything That Man Wears Will Be Sold at Sensationally Cut Prices.

A DISTRIBUTION OF VALUES SO FORCEFUL THAT EVERY PURCHASER WILL BECOME A VOLUNTARY ADVERTISER

BOSTON, March 12.—One of man's best friends is his pocketbook. This may sound rather harsh, yet, Mr. Reader, is it not a fact? When your pocketbook is well-filled, don't you have lots of friends? But let it become known that your dollars are few and friends become scarcer than "hen's teeth." Therefore the saving of the dollars; yes, and the pennies, in your purchases is important and a duty.

Tomorrow an opportunity presents itself—for saving. In a great store, whose daily sales reach big figures, there is a constant accumulation of merchandise—particularly in the Departments for Men's Wear, where sizes are so important for complete assortments. The "Broken Lines" are hard to fill in at times, hence the Henry Siegel Co. in their progressive way have determined to "clear the track" from time to time

Regardless of Cost or Present Values

Wednesday has been designated as the day for this process in the Men's Clothing and Hat Depts. on the 3d floor and in the Men's Furnishings Dept. on the ground floor. To do justice to the great list of Tomorrow's Bargains in the regular way of advertising, it would require a full page of this evening's "American," but instead the story is written in this modest space and the economy of advertising has been utilized for the further lowering of the "Cut Prices" in effect tomorrow.

The intelligent men of New England can read "between the lines" what's what. This advisement serves as an advance notice, as none of the items are on sale today. They are limited in quantity, none can last all day—hence it will be well to come to Washington and Essex sts. as early as convenient tomorrow. The selling begins promptly at 8:35 in the Men's Store, 3d floor.

Men's "Odd" Coats and Vests $4.90
Men's "Odd" Trousers to Match $1.90

Navy blue serge, fine worsteds, neat cassimeres, fancy cheviots are the fabrics. Formerly these "odd" coatsand vests and trousers were full suits that sold at various prices from the medium to the high. According to the "Fixed Clothing Rule" brand new waist measurements do "not match," but with a little patience you may find just YOUR size in both coats and vests and trousers, and of the same fabric. There are more than 400 of these "Broken Suits" in all sizes to make your pick from: Coat and vest $4.90, trousers $1.90. Tomorrow—Men's Day.

In another section you'll find Young Men's "Odd" Coats and Vests at $2.90 and "Odd" Trousers of All Kinds at $1.00. The coats and vests are chiefly in sizes 31 to 36 breast—fabrics of good colorings and serviceable, nobby styles. The trousers range in sizes from 29 to 42 waist—all lengths. Really a "Harvest in Trousers" at $1.00 Tomorrow—Men's Day—Early.

Men's Overcoats, Top Coats, $5.75
Men's Rubberized Slip-on Coats $2.55

The order has come: "No overcoats to be carried over—Sell! Never mind price!" Winter Overcoats tomorrow $5.75. To start the selling rush we'll because you to shake your head—to tell you what they'll be worth next fall would amaze you. (The Lawrence strike has jumped the price of woolens way up.) Will you invest $5.75 tomorrow?

Top Coats of all wool black thibet, knee length Chesterfield, the coat for all occasions, just 21 on sale tomorrow—will you take $5.75? Is any further statement necessary?

Wet season's ahead—a real protection is the Rubberized Raincoat. Of particular importance to the suburbanite on a wet morning or a wet night.

Get protection for $2.55. Just 120 full length, lightweight coats, military collar. You'll recognize the brand—there'll be 120 comfortable men on the next stormy March day talking about Men's Day at the Henry Siegel Co.

Small Heads, Big Hat Bonanza, $1.00 Blond Heads, Brown Derbies, 35c

Could fill in larger sizes and get regular price, but—the men with small heads, sizes 6¾, 6⅞, 6¾ and 7, who will get the Black Derbies, the Telescopes in all colors, the nobby hats of all kinds for ONE DOLLAR will become voluntary advertisers for the Men's Store, 3d floor, Henry Siegel Co. Same argument fits the blond heads. You'll say: "What's the matter with these Brown Derbies?" Nothing but the price, 35c, tomorrow, and, after all, every Brown Derby on a blond head may bring $10 worth of good advertising—who knows?

"Odd" Fur Lined Coats and Panama Hats—"Odd" Summer Suits and Winter Ulsters—"Odd" Alpaca Coats and Smoking Jackets—"Odd" Fancy Cravenettes—"Odd" Winter Suits of brown and gray—"Odd" everything on sale Wednesday—Men's Store, 3d floor —take elevator on Essex st. side. Sale opens 8:35 a. m. sharp.

The Men's Furnishings Department, Ground Floor, Opens Sale at 8:30 a.m.

Only 150 men can "brace up" for a quarter in the best possible manner—as there are but 12½ dozen genuine Guyot and President Suspenders among the "Odds" marked 25c—but there is another snap close by—Elastic Suspenders with leather ends—"Live Webs" as to the rubber within and the colors without. Medium and narrow widths. Now comes the price—14c—just 312 pairs.

Reversible Four-in-Hands and Flowing End Ties of rich and lustrous silks, a total of 480, in possibly a hundred designs—"Odds" including some of the choicest new weaves—on sale tomorrow 28c. And then several hundred "Leftovers" including Display Ties, Window Ties, Sample Ties, all shapes; all silks (some are soiled of course), tomorrow, 8c each.

Imported Silk Lisle Hose 16c

About 360 pairs left from a 6000-pair allotment that made hose history. All fancy grounds; combination stripes, checks and novelty designs. Sizes 9½ to 11—Sixteen cents. Tomorrow. Close by there'll be on sale a fine group of Percale Negligee Shirts, white grounds with vari-colored stripes and figures—coat shirts and regular—180 in all. Sizes 15 to 17 only—popular brand (no duplicates)—therefore 55c tomorrow, Men's Day.

Bath Robes made of 2-toned blankets —beautiful designs—just 21 left from a big shipment, classified "Odd," they are marked for tomorrow $2.55. Great comfort, those robes, in the summer cottage or at the seashore.

480 Pongee Summer Shirts 85c

These shirts cannot be described, so as to do them justice. Hardly two shirts alike. Of course they're "Odds" of some of the best makes and styles. Mercerized Pongee, that lustrous, cool fabric—defies the laundry. Some of the shirts have attached collar, majority neckband and French cuffs; sizes 14 to 17—the price, 85c, while quantity holds out—Tomorrow.

Wool Ribbed Union Suits for Men—just 36 of them, but only sizes 34 and 38—that's why they'll go at $1.10 each tomorrow. And for those interested in Underwear of any kind, there is an unusual chance to secure Natural Wool Stuttgart Finish Shirts and Drawers at a ridiculously low price. Sizes run right in medium sizes as follows: Shirts, 34, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50; drawers, 30, 34, 40, 46, 48, 50. That causes their drop to 55c per garment tomorrow.

Balbriggan Union Suits 3 for $1.00

Summer Balbriggan, long sleeves and ankle length, short sleeves and knee length. There are about 360 Suits in all, just about enough for 120 men to clean up. Why are these Suits sold at 3 for $1.00? Part of them are slightly soiled—others have slight imperfections —still others are mussed. Soap and water will remedy the worst fault they have—Tomorrow is their last appearance in the Men's Furnishing Dept.—Main Floor—Essex St. Side.

Other items not definitely priced at this writing will be on sale during the day tomorrow—Wednesday—Men's Day at the Henry Siegel Co.—is a feature that you and every man will appreciate.

ATTRACTIVE OFFERINGS AT THE BOSTON PLAYHOUSES THIS WEEK

William H. Crane Is Amusing as Ever in "The Senator Keeps House."

Ponce De Leon may back when America was young so far as the are concerned, sought in Florida the "Fabled Fountain of Youth." He failed to find it. But discovery has made great strides since then. Witness Peggy Armistead, et al. Among the others is William H. Crane, the comedian. To speak in the vernacular, Mr. Crane has put one over on Ponce. He has found the fountain of youth, and he drinks daily from its sparkling waters.

This became known for the first time, as the new writers are won't to say, last night at the Hollis Street Theatre. Mr. Crane was there and so was an enthusiastic throng of his old friends, and if there was one of them that could discover grays or hair or a less youthful stride in the eminent actor than was there twenty years ago, he promptly forgot it.

Mr. Crane—one can hardly keep from calling him Senator Crane—is happily cast in Martha Morton's play, "The Senator Keeps House." The story concerns the masterful efforts of Senator Larkin, from the Northwest, to get a housekeeper in Washington. At last a woman in black appears, takes hold of the senator's house and sets things right.

Although the Senator does not know it, his housekeeper is Mrs. Ida Flower, who has had a land claim against the government for some years and went into the Senator's house hoping she might win him away from his opposition. He finds out that she is the "Mason claimant" and that she is the housekeeper, and everybody is broke up including the Senator.

Then Mrs. Flower's daughter and the Senator's nephew take matters in their own hands. They slip out and get married. Then the curtain falls finally the Senator, the widow and the happily married young people are sitting down to a wedding breakfast, and it looks very much as if there might be another wedding right away.

Mabel Bert played the widow with fine discrimination. Lorraine Frost was with some and pretty as her daughter. Jack Beaumont was the Senator's secretary.

Tremont Theatre.

"I love this dear opera," said Miss Margherita Sylva last night at the Tremont Theatre, rejoining to the applause which broke loose after the second act of the new operetta, "and I want you to love it, too." There is no doubt about that. Miss Sylva, of musical talent. Harry Levine, the newsboy tenor, received a warm welcome from his Boston friends yesterday.

Globe Theatre.

There is a world of entertainment in the Globe program this week. Heading the list is "Baby Mine," a wonderfully trained elephant. The Royal Hindoo Troupe of Japanese is a quintette of juggling and acrobatic experts, which has many new and startling tricks. Their costuming is elaborate. Santelly, billed as the "Vocalist Remarkable," deserves the title. His remarkable voice entitles him to high rank among vaudeville singers. Dow and Dow have a clever skit and their parodies are excellent. Mr. and Mrs. Danny Mann present one of the most pleasing little playlets in vaudeville. Litchfield, Farrell and Day proved themselves local favorites.

Premier Theatre.

The moving picture sensation of the year, "A Victim of the Mormons," was shown at the Premier Theatre yesterday. News of the trouble this picture had created sent capacity audiences to the theatre all day. There is little wonder that the officials of the Mormon church attempted to suppress the film, for it is far from complimentary to the teachings of Mormonism.

Gaiety Theatre.

Everybody concedes that Billy W. Watson is the funniest man in burlesque. He wins this distinction by conscientious work, and those who visited the Gaiety Theatre yesterday had the opportunity of renewing acquaintance with Watson's funny slide, "The Girl From Hoppyland" was the allusive title attached to the entertainment, and while it was top-notch burlesque in every way, there was nothing quite so comical as Mr. Watson's skidding feet.

Howard Athenaeum.

The athletic features of the programs at the old Howard are becoming almost a regular weekly event. This week the patrons of the house are watching Al Palzer's work and trying to make out what grade of a "white hope" he really is. Palzer's sketch, called "The Training Camp," satisfied yesterday's audience that he is a skilful boxer. The burlesque attraction was "The Girls from Reno."

Waldron's Casino.

Al Reeves' "Big Beauty Show" moved into Waldron's Casino Theatre yesterday for a week's stay. There were plenty of the girls in the company.

Hub Theatre.

A new list of motion pictures and several high class vaudeville features were presented at the Hub Theatre yesterday. Manager Mack is maintaining high quality in all of the shows offered at his theatre.

Bowdoin Square Theatre.

The headline attraction at the Bowdoin Square Theatre yesterday was the Dockstader Four, a smart vaudeville act. The program contained other vaudeville and moving picture features.

Austin & Stone's.

The new program in the theatre at Austin & Stone's Museum yesterday was headed by the Florodora Girls, with Miss Cassie French in the centre of the group. Several new features were also added to the curio hall show.

Orpheum Theatre.

There was a lively bill of novelties at the Orpheum Theatre yesterday, the chief lure of which was supplied by Lillian Lashbury and company in a comedy sketch called "Mrs. Macbeth." The act is a hit. Other vaudeville numbers and closing list of new motion pictures completed the bill.

Scenic Temple.

Several new vaudeville acts, new motion pictures and an orchestral concert make up the new program at the Scenic Temple yesterday.

Plays That Are Announced.

Ina Bernard will come to the Majestic next week in "He Came from Milwaukee."

"Tribby" will be the attraction at the Castle Square Theatre next week.

Billie Burke, in "The Runaway," will be one of the early attractions at the Hollis Street Theatre.

Plays That Remain.

John Mason began a new week in "As a Man Thinks" at the Shubert Theatre last evening.

The final week of "The Chocolate Soldier" was begun at the Majestic Theatre last evening.

"The Blue Mask" entered upon a new week before a large audience at the Colonial last evening.

"The Country Boy" remains at the Park Theatre, where it is playing to big business.

"The Deep Purple," with its thrilling story of the Federal secret service, is at the Plymouth Theatre.

"The Littlest Rebel," with the Farnum boys as co-stars, continues at the Boston Theatre.

Operetta and New Vaudeville Are Among the New Attractions.

GRAY HAIR

Easy to Restore Natural Color of Your Hair by Simple Method

Science has just been finding out some of the most amazing things about the hair—discoveries that overturn many old ideas.

For instance, with a newly discovered product the natural color is restored by a simple treatment that can be applied by any one in a short time. This scientific treatment is embodied in the Queen Gray Hair Restorer, a liquid preparation that makes any desired shade from the one package, leaving the hair soft and fluffy, and making a lasting color that is not sticky and does not rub off.

The Queen Gray Hair Restorer is guaranteed to restore gray hair to its natural color, whether it be light brown, dark brown or black. It may be had from Houghton & Dutton and Eaton-Jones Drug Co. and the leading dealers and druggists throughout the country. Any one is not satisfied after using it may return the empty bottle and get their money back.

AWAY GO PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, SORES, ULCERS AND ALL BLOOD DISORDERS

Pimples, eruptions, blotches, scales, ulcers, sores, eczema and chronic swellings are caused by bad blood, but don't become discouraged—no other trouble is so easily overcome. Cascarets are wonder-workers in the cure of any disease caused by bad or impure blood. They eliminate all poisons, build up and enrich the blood, enabling it to make new, healthy tissue.

Pure blood means perfect health and if you will use Cascarets they will give you good health and a pure, clean skin, free from pimples and blotches. To try Cascarets is to like them, for never before has there been produced as perfect and as harmless a blood purifier, liver and stomach regulator as Cascarets Candy Cathartic! Be sure to take Cascarets and you will surely have good, pure, healthy blood, and no more eruptions or disfigurements. A 10-cent box of Cascarets will truly amaze you.

A Trainload of "Sunkist" Oranges Just Arrived. Special Sale All This Week!

California "Sunkist" oranges have ripened—3,000,000 of them! Shipped by special fast express freight to your local dealer's for the big week's sale.

All this week, this fancy fruit (all of very first quality) will be sold at low prices. Thousands will take advantage of the sale to obtain California prize oranges and to get the genuine Rogers' Silverware. You, Madam, will have an opportunity to provide your table with the most delicious, economical and healthful fruit. Thousands of men will urge their wives to buy "Sunkist" oranges at the special low prices. Thousands of dining rooms will be enriched by the appearance of exquisite Rogers' Silver.

Insist on Genuine "Sunkist" Wrappers

Each golden "Sunkist" orange comes in a wrapper plainly marked. The wrappers besides being valuable serve as an identification of the best oranges in the world.

Special Prices by the Dozen, Half-Box or Box

They are in splendid condition and will keep well. So that you may buy in quantities, thereby getting a better price. Special low prices by the box or half-box. The wrappers from a quantity will give you an immediate supply of the luxurious silverware.

SALE ALL THIS WEEK

Seedless "Sunkist" Oranges Picked With Gloves

This delightful fruit is all picked, when ripe, with gloves! Each orange is perfect. Otherwise it would be rejected and sold as a "second"—not as a first-quality "Sunkist." "Sunkist" oranges are the prize fruit of 5,000 of the best groves in California. There are many grades of California oranges, but "Sunkist" is the very choicest. The others go under different names.

Seedless, Sound and Solid

Deliciously juicy—no seeds, firm, thin-skinned and perfect. Flavored as only tree-ripened oranges can be.

Thin-Skinned, Juicy "Sunkist" Lemons

Of the same superb quality as the oranges. Economical because so thin-skinned and extra juicy. The wrappers are of the same value as "Sunkist" orange wrappers. Recipe booklet free upon request.

Made of special tempered steel heavily silver-plated, same high quality as the other "Sunkist" Premiums. Sent on receipt of 24 "Sunkist" wrappers and 20c. For each additional fruit knife send 24 "Sunkist" wrappers and 20c.

Read This Carefully

On all remittances up to 24 cents send consecutive stamps; on amounts above 24 cents send postoffice money order, express money order or bank draft. Do not send cash. Make money order or draft payable to the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, and address your letters to the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, 192 N. Clark Street, Chicago, Ill. Not responsible for cash sent through the mails.

You can secure these premiums with "Sunkist" orange wrappers, "Sunkist" lemon wrappers, "Red Ball" orange wrappers or "Red Ball" lemon wrappers. Or merely send trademarks cut from wrappers. If you will buy only "Sunkist", and "Red Ball" oranges and lemons, you will get fruit of the finest eating quality, economically priced, and you will soon have enough wrappers to secure a complete set of the beautiful table silverware.

READ PASTOR'S ESSAYS ON LOVE

Synopsis of Play Alleged to Parallel Wedded Life of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis.

of my sayings makes things go hard.

To love a woman without a soul is to vulgarize her. Contrast her who would not or could not love my soul but only me, with me who wanted the soul or nothing.

Sees Jealousy Signs.

The girl who is made for me will be one who will be a fellow-traveler with me always progressing. If is taking notes, the logical climax of her jealousy. That is wrong. My love always included her but did not exclude all other men, women and children. Yet my life has been incomplete.

A woman thinks a devil is a god if he adores her, and that a god is a devil if he does not. That woman thinks that the woman does not really want her freedom. The former employer appears on the scene and the two fall in love. By this time the hero has become resigned. He never marries, because he no longer believes in it. He is tempted to take the child for whom he cares, and flee. The woman takes the child and the father is overcome with grief.

Rev. John Ellis, Chicago pastor whose wife is suing to get possession of child.

Views of Clergyman Presented from Manuscript by Counsel for Wife

In a sort of soliloquy, the Rev. Mr. Ellis wrote:

We can only see what is in ourselves. She is my white cross. Must I go on this way and as before take summons whom I do not want because the one I want still no more me?

It was the fault of the water, the night, the stars; I must keep away from them. She stands ready with a club to kill each emotion as it begins to show life. We are not on the summit, we are at the base of the mountain, no not on the base but only part way up. We have been climbing, but we should not build our scaffolding on a flower bed.

is lacking in moral strength. Converts are good enough for some men, but not for me. Some men like to be touching their wives all the time, but I do not. Christ had a sixth sense which enabled Him to see through a sham. Other men have had it, and I have it to a certain extent. I am not always deceived by a smiling face.

Synopsis of Play.

Coming to the synopsis of the play which Mrs. Ellis has secured, Attorney Walsh read it. It introduces the woman character as an earthy creature, interested in mushrooms, frogs, etc., but with no spirituality.

The hero discusses women's working, especially in a loan business. Mrs. Ellis before marriage, was employed in a loan office. The woman revolutionist falls in love with the hero; the hero platonically loves her niece. There is a storm of jealousy, in which the wife threatens to kill herself. The hero appeals to his friends, but they, impelled by selfish motives, do not help him, but side with the woman. The first act closes with the wife in an asylum.

NEW GEORGIAN HOTEL OPENED

It was a big night for everyone who attended the opening of the new Georgian, the latest in hotels and restaurants in Boston. The Georgian is in Park square and is under the direction of George A. Dodge, who was the host of the evening. The dinner was entirely informal, Amos Walpole being toastmaster.

Among those at the table with Mr. Dodge were Councillor Cushing, Mayor Fitzgerald, ex-Councillor Glidden of Somerville, C. H. Blackall, the architect; George Lovejoy, former business associate of Mr. Dodge, and C. E. Osgood. Among those at other tables were District Attorney Pelletier, W. T. A. Fitzgerald, United States Assistant District Attorney Garland, Street Commissioners Salem D. Charles and James A. Gallivan, Lyonfield Damon of the Hotel Thorndike, Frank Hall of the Somerset and many other prominent citizens. Seven members of the City Council were also present.

Mayor Fitzgerald arrived late and was warmly greeted. He made a short speech in which he congratulated Mr. Dodge on his enterprise. In response to demands the Mayor sang "Sweet Adeline."

Councillor Cushing extended Governor Foss' greetings. District Attorney Pelletier also made a speech.

CONRY SPEAKS ON 'RUSSIA.'

Joseph A. Conry, Russian Consul in Boston, will speak on "Russia" this evening at Cathedral Hall, Malden street, at the second of the series of lectures under the direction of the League of Catholic Women.

HAZEL LIMERICK, WHO WILL MARRY GUY H. HAMILTON

Miss Hazel C. Limerick of No. 88 West Bromfield road, West Somerville, danced her way into the heart of Guy H. Hamilton, son of President Frederick Hamilton of Tufts College, with the result that the announcement of their engagement has just been made. The father was married last week, and now comes the notice of the son's engagement.

The young pair met five years ago at a dance at Tufts. Young Hamilton was then a freshman. Miss Limerick had come to Boston from Fredericton, N. B., just before. Her dancing won the young man's regard. The date of the wedding has not been fixed, but it probably will take place in a year.

WIFE A DEPOSITOR, JUSTICE SHELDON AVOIDS BANK CASE

Justice Sheldon of the Supreme Court today refused to sit with his colleagues in the Framingham Savings Bank case to recover a forged note of $25,000 made by the town treasurer, John R. Lombard, for the reason that Mrs. Sheldon is a depositor in the bank. Justice Hammond, sitting in the equity session, suspended court to take Justice Sheldon's place. The question before the court is whether the town is liable for the note, if the indorsement was a forgery.

OTT'S CREDITORS MEET.

The first meeting of the creditors of Philip A. Ott, an actor, was held before Referee Dingwell in the United States Bankruptcy Court today. John W. Bond was elected trustee.

TEDDY IS TURNED DOWN AS JUROR

MINEOLA, N. Y., March 12.—Theodore Roosevelt was challenged when called as a juror in the Supreme Court of Nassau County today in a damage suit brought against the New York Central railroad. The challenge was made for cause by the attorney against the railroad and the ex-President was excused.

No explanation was offered in court for the challenge. Just before the case was called Attorney George R. Stoddard, representing the New York Central railroad, the defendant in the suit, had stated that he was perfectly willing to have the Colonel serve. The challenge came, however, from Attorney John J. Graham, attorney for the plaintiff, immediately after the Colonel had been drawn and had taken his seat in the jury box.

May Be Political Reason.

A report was circulated about the court house that it had been learned that some of the Democratic Nassau fellows were prejudiced against him for political reasons and that the challenge was resorted to in order to prevent any possible friction in the jury room.

The case on trial was that of Michael Carmody, a fifteen-year-old boy. Carmody was run down by a train in New York and lost both legs, and had secured a verdict for $40,000. The company appealed.

Carmody was brought into court on a stretcher. The Colonel, with the others, cast sympathetic glances at the little fellow as he lay helpless. This was the Colonel's seventh and in all likelihood his last day as a talesman. He arrived from Oyster Bay in his automobile after driving through a snowstorm.

Surprised by Challenge.

Colonel Roosevelt was the seventh called. As his name was pronounced the Colonel lustily stepped into the jury box and took his place in seat No. 7.

When Attorney Graham, representing Carmody, challenged Colonel Roosevelt the Colonel looked surprised and did not move. He did not seem to realize what had happened. A court attendant beckoned him from the box and he responded: "Oh, I see. I've been challenged."

He smiled about the courtroom while the proceedings went on. Afterward the Colonel said he could give no explanation why he had been challenged.

Mr. Graham said: "The only thing we have conferred a boon on Colonel Roosevelt. If he had been accepted he would have been held up here for three or four days and he has a busy man right now."

FIRE IN DR. CABOT'S HOME CAUSES BACK BAY EXCITEMENT

Fire in the home of Dr. Hugh Cabot at No. 87 Marlboro street today caused damage of about $2,000 to the building and considerable excitement in the fashionable neighborhood.

The fire started in the woodshed in the cellar and was discovered by an employe after it had eaten its way up through the walls to the second floor. A still alarm was sent in by telephone.

When the apparatus arrived an alarm was sent in from Box 45. The firemen had to tear into the walls on the first and second floors of the house to get at the flames. The damage was largely to the building.

Dr. Cabot's neighbors are Mr. and Mrs. Griffin, who occupy the house No. 85; Dr. and Mrs. Bullard, who live at No. 89; Dr. and Mrs. H. Coolidge, at No. 81 and Mr. and Mrs. Roland Gray, who live at No. 83.

COUNSEL CLASH IN BOLDUC CASE

The Bolduc trial today was marked by frequent clashes between Assistant District Attorney Lavelle, who is conducting the case, and Attorneys Timothy J. Coakley and John H. Blanchard for the defendants, Dr. John F. Ferguson, Miss Mary A. O'Neil and Mrs. Annie M. Reed.

The trial is in progress before Judge Chase and a jury in the second session of the Suffolk Superior Court.

JURY IS CHOSEN IN SUGAR CASE

NEW YORK, March 12.—The trial of officers, directors and counsel of the sugar trust on a charge of criminal violation of the Sherman anti-trust law began in earnest today when the jury was sworn in and District Attorney Wise made his opening address. In this he charged the defendants with having engaged in the most brazen conspiracies ever brought to the attention of the federal authorities.

BIG EXHIBIT AT AUTO TRUCK SHOW

Busy at Mechanics Building Preparing for Exhibit to Open Tomorrow Night.

By J. C. KERRIGON.

That part of the city in the vicinity of Mechanics Building is the scene of great activity today. From early morning, the streets in the immediate territory have been filled with motor trucks of all types and sizes, from the small parcel carriers to the monster ten-ton trucks, all seeking entrance to the big exhibition halls.

Within the walls of the massive structure is another picture of real activity. Hundreds of workmen are busily engaged pulling and hauling trucks of many descriptions about and putting them in their respective places allotted to them. The whole scene of action causes the looker-on to liken it to a human beehive.

All this is preliminary to the opening of the commercial vehicle exhibition which will start tomorrow night and run for a week.

This will be Boston's first distinctly motor truck show. Commercial vehicles have been seen on exhibition in this city in former years, but only in connection with the pleasure car shows, when they were forced to take a sort of a secondary position in the exhibition.

But the commercial vehicles have made such rapid strides in the past year, and the demand for that type of vehicle has grown so fast, that the Boston Automobile Dealers' Association, who conduct the exhibitions in Mechanics Hall, were compelled to give the horseless wagons a show all to themselves.

This departure from the former method will be of great service to the truck dealers, for now they can exhibit their products to the greatest possible advantage.

The ponderous cars will not be shunted off to out-of-the way places in the building, but will hold the centre of the limelight for the week coming.

Therefore, the truck show this year will be the most impressive exhibition of its kind ever held in this city. It will not be as spectacular a show as that witnessed of the pleasure cars last week.

All the beautiful decorations that attracted so much attention last week will be in evidence, but there will be that absence of the glitter and show which marked last week's affair.

Show for Business Men.

For that reason the great throngs which packed the building last week will not be present at the truck show. Nevertheless, the crowd that will attend will be made up chiefly of a purchasing one, although there are thousands of people who would prefer looking over the monstrous auto trucks than the pleasure cars, even though they have no material use for them.

The chief visitors during the week will comprise in the main, merchants and small business men, who are desirous of improving their delivery system. At the show they can see all the principal makes of motor trucks and can more readily make up their minds which one will give them the greatest satisfaction.

During the past two years the motor trucks have grown in popularity to a remarkable degree. They are being used for all kinds of work. The growing demand for motor vehicles has resulted in a very prosperous year for the manufacturers of that class of motor cars.

Boston's First Commercial Vehicle Display to Be Impressive Sight.

In fact, some of the makers who construct both pleasure and commercial cars, have neglected the former type of car to meet the demands for the latter kind.

Record Number of Trucks.

The motor truck show will not record so many quick sales as was in evidence last week for the pleasure cars. It is a much more serious minded business, the marketing of commercial cars, and fancy is not allowed to run wild in it.

The business man wants to be sure he is to get full value for his expenditure. But the motor truck is such a vastly improved machine this year. The business is a year older and in times of development a year counts for a great deal.

Like the pleasure car show, the commercial truck exhibition is expected to break all former records. There is no denying the fact that it will start off in record breaking fashion, for there is to be more trucks on exhibition under one roof than ever witnessed before.

Cars of All Types.

At the two motor truck shows in New York—Madison Square Gardens and the Grand Central Palace—this year, there were a total number of 223 trucks and chasses shown for both exhibitions.

At the Chicago show, 226 commercial vehicles were displayed. The Boston show is to top them all in numbers, with a display of 242 trucks and chasses, representing sixty-four different manufacturers.

The leading exhibitors at the show are going in for the big trucks and many of three heavy cars will be seen. As this show includes both gasoline and electric trucks, cars of all types on the market will be shown.

Auto Notes.

The Electric Vehicle Club of Boston held their annual banquet at the Thorndike last evening, with a large number of guests present. Fish D. Wagoner of the General Vehicle Company gave an illustrated talk on the "Economy of Space" in the use of electric vehicles. Mr. Day Baker of the General Vehicle Company, also gave an interesting talk, with slides, on some of the recent installations of electric vehicles in this section.

Secretary Lamb and Sales Manager H. A. Goddard of the Gram Motor Truck Company arrived in town yesterday for the opening of the truck show.

H. D. Windell of the Chase Motor Truck Company was also an arrival in town yesterday morning. His truck was the first one to get into Mechanics Building.

General Sales Manager Bertsch of the Motz Tire & Rubber Company spent yesterday in Boston, but left last night for New York. He will return tomorrow, however, in time for the opening of the truck show.

The Trip to California Under Special Care

"You feel like sorting out and tying together the memories of this trip and keeping them separate from all other trips." A woman recently said this after a pleasant experience on a Burlington Route "Personally Conducted" excursion party to California. She traveled alone, but met many agreeable people on the car, which was in charge of a special conductor. This good natured official was a well-informed, courteous man who won all the way through with the party, looking after everyone's comfort and attending to all the little details of the trip. Thus a woman or child in one of these parties can travel with perfect safety and freedom from care. If you would like to know more about the Burlington's comfortable and inexpensive personally conducted excursions, please write or a postal and Tll send you maps, booklets, rates, etc., by return mail. MATCH CHEWING PROVES FATAL

CAMDEN, N. J., March 12. — Charles McShea is dead in Cooper Hospital from chronic phosphorous poisoning. He had been for years a chewer of match sticks. As other men chew tobacco or gum he chewed the little wood splinters after breaking off the heads. The phosphorous absorbed by the wood plate the head was in each case almost too small to be measured, but long continued practice of the habit introduced so much into McShea's system that two weeks ago he fell fatally ill.

SPENCER HILL AS "BALLET GIRL" AT COSTUME PARTY

Banker Hill, who was shot yesterday at his Congress street office, was resting comfortably today.

LEWINSKI HELD IN $3,800 BAIL

Spencer R. Hill, the broker who was shot yesterday by Herman Lewinski, is reported today as resting comfortably at the City Hospital. No dangerous symptoms have set in and unless there is a change which is not now apparent, his recovery is certain.

Herman Lewinski, who shot Hill in the office of Richardson, Hill & Co., at No. 50 Congress street, told the police that he intended to shoot two men, but only to wound them, not to kill. He also told the police he had been fleeced out of all his money.

In court today Lewinski was held in $3,800 bail.

At No. 29 Rutland street, where Lewinski had a room, his landlady said:

"Lewinski lost a fortune which at one time amounted to $30,000. He was not married and never was, so far as I know. He was for many years a silk salesman and traveled about a great deal.

"He made a lot of money. He quit the silk business about eight years ago. Then he began to buy up small mortgages on real estate.

"He has lived in Boston for thirty years or more. About three weeks ago he remarked that he would have to go to work again. He was away last week and returned Saturday night. I had a talk with him yesterday. He said that all of his money was gone and declared that a few big fellows were robbing the little ones.

Horace James of Brookline, head of the firm, said he believed Lewinski was crazy.

CREW PRAISED BY AMUNDSEN

LONDON, March 12.—Further details of Captain Roald Amundsen's successful dash for the South Pole are printed today, and in the narrative the Norwegian explorer again made specific mention of the Japanese expedition under Lieutenant Sakrai, indicating that in his opinion this would be the next of the Antarctic exploration parties to reach civilization.

Captain Amundsen paid warm tribute to his companions on the final dash from the Winter camp to the Pole, and said without the stout loyalty shown by those men and dogs, the trip probably would not have succeeded. Rules are set forth for the guidance of Antarctic expeditions, which will probably become standard. Amundsen tells what to take and what not to take and it was interesting to note that he allowed no liquor or intoxicating drinks of any kind on the final stage of the journey which ended the 800 miles at the goal.

The explorer said he left his Winter camp at Framheim intact so that it could be used by any other party which passed that way. In addition to the hutch and dog houses the Amundsen expedition left lights and heating apparatus and a number of tools such as are generally found necessary by navigators beyond the edge of civilization.

Captain Amundsen is said to have in his possession a number of photographs made at the Pole showing scenes from the level ice plateau which he has named King Haakon VII. plateau in honor of his sovereign. These photographs will be of immense scientific value and will doubtless be reprinted in the book which Amundsen will write.

Interesting details emphasizing the climatic phenomena of the Polar region are given. Members of the Amundsen party discarded their furs while at the Pole and found themselves comfortable as at night. Scientists are becoming convinced the Norwegian struck an unusual Antarctic Winter. From his own figures it has been colder in London than it was at the South Pole.

Will Not Hurry Back.

Amundsen has affirmed the reports that he will take his time in getting back to Europe. After circling Cape Horn to Buenos Aires, where he will visit Police Chief Spheperson, an old friend, he will again seek the Pacific Ocean and sail eastward through the Northwest Passage, arriving in Christiania early in 1913.

The expected controversy over the naming of the polar plateau has not been stifled by a declaration from the Norwegian that Sir Ernest Shackleton must be wrong in supposing that the same plateau which he named King Edward VII. Plateau is the one that Amundsen christened King Haakon VII Plateau.

A dispatch from Christiana says King Haakon VII. has announced his intention, through the councelor, to contribute personally to the national fund which will be raised to defray the expenses of Captain Amundsen's South Pole expedition. About $19,000 is needed.

MRS. VERMILYA IS INDICTED

CHICAGO, March 12.—Mrs. Louise Vermilya is indicted for the murder of Richard T. Smith, a collector and employed by the Illinois Central Railroad, March 11, 1911. The return of the true bill by the Grand Jury stopped a preliminary hearing on a warrant charging the woman with the same offense.

Ford

When you aren't known at the bank, you must have your check endorsed.

When you haven't been able to get a reputation through sound manufacture, you must put a guarantee on your car in order to sell it.

That's just what an automobile guarantee amounts to—an endorsement that somehow or other the check will be made good. Only—the man who endorses your check can be held responsible, but it has not yet been shown that the firm that takes over the business of a defunct automobile organization, can be held to the terms of the guarantee.

There is one guarantee that is worth something—but it doesn't come on lithographed paper. It is the guarantee of accomplishment. It stands behind your car in the shape of more than 100,000 satisfied owners, when you buy a Ford.

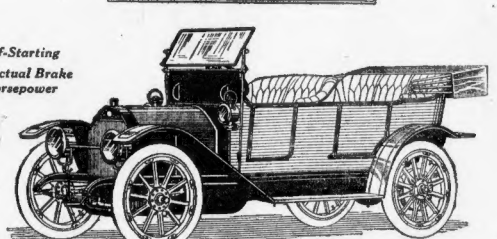
MOON

THE CHARACTER CAR

Self-Starting
45 Actual Brake Horsepower



MOON "40"—$1,800

Don't Be Misled By Generalities

You hear a great deal of talk about "Car Values." What car values? The day is past when any motor car buyer is content with glittering generalities. On the great essentials of motor car construction the buyer is quite able to form an intelligent judgment.

So the manufacturer who has the utmost of car values, is eager to get down to brass tacks.

That is why we invite every buyer to consider the Moon T-head motor. Full 45 horsepower on the brake test—4½-inch bore, 5-inch stroke—the big four-bolt connecting rods—the extra large bearings—the genuine honeycomb radiator—the extremely strong steering column—the enormous brakes. Our transmission and steering gears, universal joints and back axles are all guaranteed for a 60-horsepower load, although the brake horsepower of our motor is 46. In other words, it is the Moon policy all the way through to give you more than you pay for.

Note the 120-inch wheel base—the 36-inch demountable wheels, each spoke 1¼-inch in diameter—36x4-inch tires, front and rear—the roomy, all-metal body with its 10-inch upholstering—the nickel and black finish—the most complete equipment ever put on a motor car.

Come in and see the big, handsome, powerful new Moon "40," or telephone for a demonstration—and then tell us where you have ever seen such car values.

PILGRIM REGULARS AND YANNIGANS IN SECOND GAME TODAY

YANKEES BEST IN MAT BOUTS

Americus, Zeller and Cyclone Burns, representing America, defeated Van Thralen of Holland, Paul Ross of Switzerland and Jack McPhee of Scotland, representing Europe. The matches were all won on straight falls.

Americus and Van Thralen met in the feature bout, the Baltimore grappler winning the first fall in 18m. 15s., and the second in 8m. 45s.

Dr. Roller had little trouble in winning from Ross. The first fall was won by Roller in 14m. 10s., and the second fall in 3m. 55s.

"Cyclone" Burns had a hard tussle with McPhee in the first session of their match. Burns finally secured a body scissors and won the first fall in 20m. 45s.

McPhee was tired in the second session, the Cyclone taking the second fall in 14m. 10s.

Americus and Jack Smith have been matched to wrestle in one of the bouts next Monday night and Fritz Hansen and Cracker Jack Butler will meet in another bout.

RUTHERFORD MAY COACH TUFTS ELEVEN

Coach Rutherford of the Tufts baseball team may succeed Tobin as coach of the football team next Fall. Rutherford has considerable experience as a football coach. He played end and quarterback for three years at Syracuse and assisted in coaching two years after his graduation. Another thing that seems in favor Rutherford's selection is that he will be among the students all year round. Another applicant for the position is "Ken" Prevear, who assisted Coach Tobin last Fall. By selecting Prevear it would mean the continuance of the Dartmouth style of play which proved very successful at the college last year.

M. A. H. S.-LATIN RUN STILL UP IN AIR

The Mechanic Arts High-Boston Latin 300-yard run which was carried over from last week's dual meet is still up in the air. When the boys reported at the Columbus-avenue Playground the Mechanic Arts High School wanted to run Warren Mooney and Harry Katz, but Latin School objected on the ground that the event was held under the rules that govern the Regimental meet, which only allow boys to enter one running and one field event, which would bar Mooney and Katz. There was a lengthy discussion, but the race did not come off.

FIVE MORE SIGNED UP BY BOSTON LEAGUE

M. A. McNeil, twenty years old, of Bath, Me., a southpaw pitcher; Earle Wardell, nineteen years old, Roxbury, an infielder; John T. Potter, thirty years old, of No. 48 Allen street, city, a first baseman and outfielder; Chester B. Drummond, nineteen years old, of No. 78 Myrtle avenue, Medford, a third baseman, and Clyde A. Bugbee, twenty years old, of No. 201 Huntington avenue, a pitcher, have been given contracts by the Greater Boston Baseball League.

C. JAMES CONNELLY LEAVES FOR AUGUSTA

C. James Connelly, vice-president of the Boston Nationals, left this afternoon for Augusta, Ga., to look over the Pilgrims at practice. Mr. Connelly is a great baseball fan, and as simply could not wait for the opening of the season, so he packed his togs and got in line. Mr. Frank Curley of Roxbury, a National League rooter, is on the way South, and will stay at the Pilgrim camp for a couple of weeks.

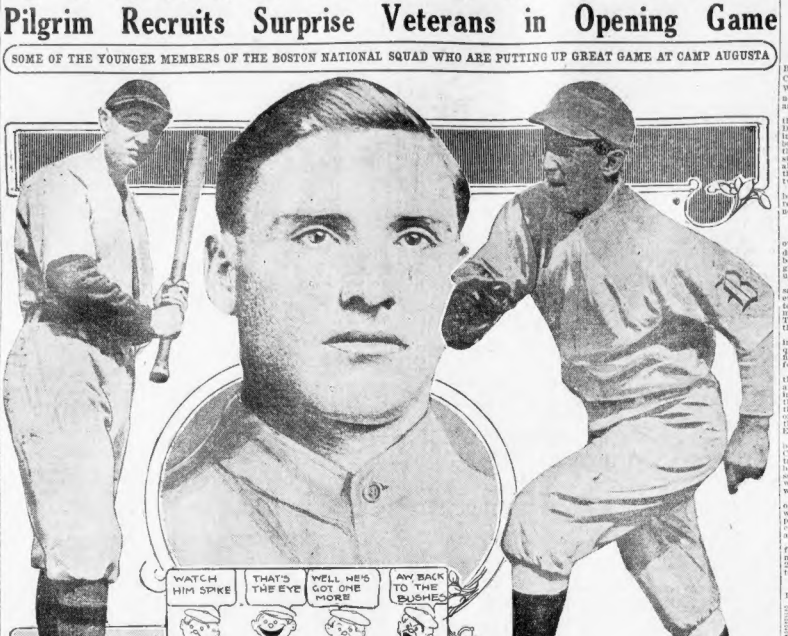
All-night Rainstorm Prevents Game at Augusta Camp

Pilgrim Recruits Surprise Veterans in Opening Game

SOME OF THE YOUNGER MEMBERS OF THE BOSTON NATIONAL SQUAD WHO ARE PUTTING UP GREAT GAME AT CAMP AUGUSTA



Rain Floods the Ball Grounds, and Kling Puts Off Game.

By L. R. MURDOCH.

Sporting Editor Boston American.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 12.—The Pilgrims were a sore bunch of ball players when they awoke from their slumbers this morning. A heavy rainstorm, which lasted all through the night, flooded the ball park and it was impossible for the Yannigans and Regulars to get together in their second game. It was even too wet to get in batting practice, so Manger Kling will have to wait until tomorrow to get revenge on his Yannigans.

The new men have furnished the surprise thus far, outbatting the men who played on the team two seasons ago. Wall, the new Tennessee infielder, is a lively recruit, handled first base well, and with Gowdy, supplied all the noise at the opening conflict. He also batted for .333, getting a good single in his first essay against Donnelly.

Criss played a surprisingly clean game behind the bat, and laid down a beautiful sacrifice under orders, when Brady was doing the firing.

After striking out the first time up, Mongeet lined out a corking single off Brady, with two on. He played a clean fielding game.

Otto Hess, the new left-handed pitcher, showed better than any of the other twirlers. He has good control and a corking curve ball, and one loose high spiced the first time out.

In the three innings he was on the mound the regulars gathered but three hits, and one run. Hess was there when there with the wax club, banning out a beauty two-bagger, which scored Ruridan.

Houser Right at Home on First.

Kaiser played a corking game for the Yannigans, getting two clean hits in twice up, and being flirt and fast on the bases. He also figured in two good fielding plays, helping to catch Kling between second and third, and nailing Sweeney at the plate after the first inning by a relay throw through Gowdy.

The lanky Southboarder looks like a comer. Houser also played a clean game, was fighting on the bases and spiked two of the Yannigans' seven runs.

Kirke and Spratt, who played shortstop for the Regulars and Yannigans, respectively, made two costly fumbles each. They bunged the ground around in front of the short field position.

Homer Reid drew first base in veteran style for the regulars. He looks like a sure thing for the place. He took everything that came his way, including one clever stop back of first base, and touched McGaffigan for one of the three hits the Regulars made off the pint-sizer.

Campbell gave an indication of what he may do on the home lines, when he took out on a delayed steal, starting while Sheridan was rounding the ball to Reid. He was safe after a well-directed slide into the base. Monahan had to for a double the only time he had a chance.

Kling Wins Place With the O. B. B.

Johnny Kling himself was the star of the game at bat, once off Hess and again off McGaffigan he stung the leather for two bases to far left. The hits would have been three-baggers or home runs on a National League field.

Kling tried four of his pitchers, Brady and Donnelly, right-handers, and Hess and McGaffigan, left-handers, in the opening combat.

Today he expects to try Dickson, Pfeffer, Brown, Tyler and Weaver.

It is too early to get any line on the twirlers. Hess easily outpitched the others in his short trial. He is a plain, everything about 200, and is tall and stocky. He has an easy delivery, but looks like he can accumulate high speed when he cuts loose.

Brady has developed speed, but the Yannigans found him easily in his first effort. He will need to sharpen his curve.

Donnelly, another giant, showed up well. He has a very easy delivery, and when he joined the team last Fall he made good from the start.

McGaffigan appeared to be fast approaching form.

NEW POINTERS FOR BOWLERS

Bowlers in the elimination round of the Boston American Bowling Championship Contest at the New Boston alleys, No. 167 Washington street, Boston, next Thursday, now know their number, alley to roll on and time of beginning.

But, here is something else for them to think over. The rules of the National Duck and Candlepin Congress will govern in all excepting Rule 12, which calls for bowlers to change alleys every two boxes. In the AMERICAN contest each bowler will start and complete his string on the same alley. Two competitors using the alleys at the same time, rolling alternately every two boxes.

In the finals, on Saturday, the three bowlers will roll a complete string on their respective alleys, and then shift to the next alley.

No Warming Up.

This means, too, that no bowler can go over the foul line. Don't bowl at rolling deadwood, which is a dead ball. Don't bowl while deadwood is in the gutters—give the pin boys the chance in picking it up.

The time for beginning is just what it says in the AMERICAN, which means that every bowler must be there with his card to the clerk of the contest at least fifteen minutes before slated to roll his first ball. There will be no warming up. The game is thrown counts for the pins it gets.

While the admission is free to the elimination rounds, the sum required to see the semi-finals Friday is fifty cents in the afternoon and the same for evening sessions.

It costs seventy-five cents to watch the three cracks in the final Saturday in the afternoon, and another seventy-five counts in the evening. The initial ten strings of the final will be rolled at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and the last ten strings of the twenty at 7 o'clock in the evening. The champion candlepin bowler of New England will have been discovered.

With only a limited number of seats to be sold, it being the plan of the AMERICAN to avoid crowding, care must be taken by those desiring to see the very best candlepin experts in action, that they secure reserved seats right away, or they will have to take the chance of seeing what they can standing.

That the alleys and surroundings will be of the best has been assured by the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, who will place the alleys in the best of tournament condition, and will supply the new pins and balls.

In the late mails of Saturday were the following eight cards, making the total number eligible to the elimination round 232. The number, name, address, alley to roll and time of bowling is as follows:

Late Bowlers in Elimination.

Bowlers' No.	Name.	Address.	Alley.	Time.
220	Carney, Louis.	Gardner.	12	11:00 p.m.

Basketball Notes

The Quincy A. A. teams, winners of the pennant in the Senior and Junior Greater Boston A. A. U. Leagues, are desirous of playing a few more games and would like to meet the fast five teams in the State. The teams must be made up of members who will be able to show the proper registration cards. Home games can be arranged for Tuesday evenings. Quincy 1131 M. H. Flynn, telephone evenings, Quincy 1131 M.

The long-standing dispute as to which team is the champion of East Boston will be settled between the Orients and the Ten Eyck Athletics on Saturday, which will take place in Lyceum hall, East Boston, at 8 o'clock. A silver cup will be awarded the winner.

The Cambridge City professional basketball five has a date for Saturday night away from home and is anxious to arrange a game with the Cambridge Y. M. C. A. quintet, which defeated the Cambridge Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday night, 32 to 30. Address Frank Cullen, No. 95 Bridge street, Cambridge. Tel. 1753 M.

The East Boston Gym team would like to arrange a match with the Cambridge Y. M. C. A. gymnasium team. Address Manager Cullen, No. 14 Washington court, East Boston.

RECORD FOR WILLIS.

PHILADELPHIA, March 11.—Captain Willis of the Penn swimming team broke the world's record in the plunge for distance, his plunge of eighty feet being within two feet of the world's record. This was the sensation of the meet, which was to determine the intercollegiate individual championships.

Ruby Robert in Angry Mood Whips Student

CHICAGO, March. 12.—Thrown into a jealous rage by the sight of the man who he believed had stolen his wife, Robert Fitzsimmons, once heavyweight champion of the world, attacked and severely beat, John Taylor, a University of Chicago student, in the offices of the Western Vaudeville Managers' Association on the eleventh floor of the Majestic Theatre Building.

Fitzsimmons declared that he acted on information that caused him to believe Taylor's relations with his wife were more what they should be. Mrs. Julia May Gifford Fitzsimmons has been making her home in the Perry apartments, and it was here, Fitzsimmons said, that Taylor met her.

Fitzsimmons was in a theatrical booking office when Taylor stepped from an elevator. The former had been talking of his trouble, and when he saw Taylor he started for him.

"There he is now," he cried, and before those about him could prevent he had struck Taylor several times, knocking him to the floor.

RAY TIFT LIKELY TO COACH SOMERVILLE

Although it has not been officially given out as yet, the Somerville High School baseball team will be in all probability be coached by Ray Tift, the old Brown southpaw, because of his fine work last Spring. For the past two weeks he has had the battery candidates working out in the Somerville Armory.

QUEBEC WINS FIRST GAME.

QUEBEC, March 12.—Quebec defeated Moncton at hockey in the first game of the Stanley cup series at the Quebec rink 9 to 2. Both teams were troubled by the soft ice.

Pittsburg Players in Railroad Wreck

RICHMOND, Va., March 12.—Members of the second squad of Pittsburg Pirates en route to West Baden, Ind., trailing grounds were in peril when the rear car on their train jumped the track and was prevented from toppling off a bridge into the White Water River, near here, by a freight train on a side track.

President Dreyfus, Honus Wagner and others of the Pirate party were at breakfast in next to the last car when the accident occurred. A brakeman standing on the freight train was badly bruised. The Pirate party was delayed several hours.

The third game of the five-game series between the Boston Athletic Association seven and the Intercolonials for which hockey fans have been anxiously looking forward to will be played at the Boston Arena tonight. The two previous games in this series which showed how very closely these teams are matched were two of the fastest hockey exhibitions ever given in Boston although many of the spectators considered the games very rough, though they served to whet the appetites of the followers of the game for similar fast contests.

Each team has won a game, the B. A. A. scoring the first victory by a score of 7 to 0 and the Intercolonials winning the last contest by a score of 4 to 1. Each is anxious to win the third game tonight as the advantage of victory will be considered by the fans in picking the probable winner of the series.

Following the last game some objections were made to the officials who had presided over the game and in order to obviate any further criticism in the future games of the series the Arena management decided that in view of the intense feeling between the local teams and their followers that it would be better to go outside of Boston to secure the officials for the games to be played in this series. Manager W. M. Longee of the Arena, therefore, opened negotiations with the officials of the New York Athletic Club with the result that the latter selected Messrs. Peabody and Reimund of the New York Athletic Club as their choice for officials on tonight's game. This selection proved entirely satisfactory to the Arena management and these men will preside over the game. Each team will line up the same as last Tuesday night.

Boxing Results

PHILADELPHIA, March 12.—In one of the best fights seen at the American A. C. here, Jimmy Dee of Philadelphia and Tommy Malone, both home products, went six of the hottest rounds imaginable in the main bout. Dee won in the second round, Brown had gained a fair lead, but by a terrific left hook to the jaw Dee ended the match. Malone is a much younger opponent holding Jack Dempsey to a draw.

HAMILTON, Ont., March 12.—"Sailor" Maynard of Boston was knocked out by Gunboat Smith, who is also a wrestler, in the first two minutes of the second round of a ten round bout. Both of the fight. Combs breaking quickly from his corner and landing a terrific right on Murray's jaw.

NEW BEDFORD, March 12.—Harold Walker of England knocked out Young Labonte of this city before the New Bedford Athletic Club in the fourth round of a scheduled twelve round contest. Walker, who is a lightweight, showed a fine knowledge of the game against the local boy, and had a decided advantage in the second round, and it was called off.

CLEVELAND, March 12.—Tommy Gargan of Cleveland and Pedro Nava of Mexico battled fast and spirited rounds to a draw.

NEW YORK, March 12.—The referee stopped the Sailor Burke-Jim Maher bout in the first round of the former's scheduled ten round bout at the Irving A. C. Maher was thoroughly outclassed.

ST. LOUIS, March 12.—Harry Trendall proved he is entitled to be known as the best fly weight in the world when he defeated Johnny Coulon in the second round, and it was called.

CLEVELAND, March 12.—Tommy Gargan of Cleveland and Pedro Nava of Mexico battled fast and spirited rounds to a draw.

NEW YORK, March 12.—The referee stopped the Sailor Burke-Jim Maher bout in the first round of the former's scheduled ten round bout at the Irving A. C. Maher was thoroughly outclassed.

NEWCASTLE, Pa., March 12.—Monte Attell and Harry Brandon fought a fast ten round session tonight, ten-pound boys here, without either able to gain an advantage.

WHAT WILL YOU WEAR FOR EASTER?

A Description of New Fashions in Gowns and Hats

By Margaret Hubbard Ayer.

WHAT will she wear on the Easter Parade"

Skirts are to be wider, a few gathers are permitted, the waist line can be placed at the normal position and the kimono sleeve, which made that hateful fold just at the broadest part of the back, thereby emphasizing the fact that the Plump Person "bulged" over her restraining stays, mustn't be worn at all unless draped. Skirts, however, still are ample

Popular Tunics

A piece of grass cambric taffeta is used for the foundation skirt and a plaited flounce, the width of the material, is added at the bottom. This is arranged over the blouse and edged with velvet, the sleeves also edged with velvet, and the sleeves are of taffeta, with under-sleeves of white lace.

The Russian tunic and the shirt-waists of fine lawn or lace, with apron or tunic effect, will be very popular.

Flounces are to be a feature of the dress and a super fashion, only to the use of cretonne. This last material, with its gay flowers and figures, will be used for collars and cuffs on coats, as panels, for scarfs, on hats and as covering for buttons on lined and light frocks.

It is an excellent material to use in order to get "something different" in a dress of ordinary make and color, and the girl who is clever with her needle can make the cretonne still more beautiful by embroidering over the pointed flowers of the material, using the same color as the original, but making a heavier silk effect.

Another trimming which will be much seen consists of petals of satin or taffeta laid one close to the other and forming a flounce. The petals are of double thickness, stitched around the edges, and are used on skirts, coats and blouses.

Paris is going frantic over the new corsets, which are of vivid-colored satin, in greens, pinks, purples and flame color, sufficiently brilliant to show through the filmy frocks of chiffon and lace. These corsets face down the front with lacings of the same color.

The Easter Bonnet

One can say with safety that they won't be popular here. Paris often tries to send us little surprises of this kind, but American women have learned that it does not pay to wear them. They are ridiculed by the very people who adopt the extreme fashions.

The Easter bonnet will probably be white, but the range of shapes is very wide, indeed, and one must be hard to suit if one cannot find just the right thing, either in silk taffeta Panama or in any one of the many straws.

The large hat has a new rival in the way of rolling away from the face, while the small ones have been edged with lace or ruches which almost completely hide the hair from front and eyes.

Novelties in millinery include flat brims, the crown only being covered with the material of which the gown is made. Sometimes the crown is of one color and the brim of another.

Desperate Desmond — Claude Eclaire Plays Possum to Some Purpose, as the Disgusted Villain Quickly Learns — By Hershfield

Copyright, 1912, by the National News Association

YOUR LOVER CLAUDE WAS KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS BY THE LOAD OF BRICKS. BEFORE HE RECOVERS I WILL HAVE HIM SAFELY OUT OF PEKIN AND THEN HAVE HIM IN MY POWER
DESMOND, YOU CUR. YOU KNOW I HATE YOU AND LOVE ONLY CLAUDE ECLAIRE!
THIS FRESH AIR HAS REVIVED ME AND I HEAR DESMOND'S VOICE. HE THINKS HE CAN CARRY ME AWAY ON A STRETCHER. EH? I'LL QUIETLY RIP THE CANVAS WITH MY HANDY POCKET KNIFE. THE VILLAIN DOES NOT HEAR ME.
HE IS STILL UNCONSCIOUS
MY STRONG ARM IS THROUGH NOW TO PICK UP SOME OBJECT AND FOIL THE UNSUSPECTING DESMOND AND SAVE MY POOR SWEETHEART, MY ROSAMOND
OUCH! MY SHINS! OW! I'M FOILED
I HAVE PICKED UP A HEAVY CLUB AND NOW TO TEACH THE VILLAIN A LESSON!
CURSES! THE BUNK HERO
WOW, DESMOND, IT'S MAN TO MAN!
I'LL HELP YOU, DEAR CLAUDE
THE POLICE ARE FORCING DESMOND INTO THE FORBIDDEN CITY FROM WHICH NO WHITE MAN EVER CAME OUT ALIVE, DEAR ROSAMOND!
THE CUR!
CURSES! THE GATES OF THE FORBIDDEN CITY
HERSHFIELD

Claude Eclaire, the peerless hero, lies upon a stretcher, unconscious. The cruel Desmond forces Rosamond to aid him in hoaxing her lover to some place where the hero's career may be quietly ended forever. It is a horrible situation for the poor girl, but the cigar would abandon his prey before Desmond his.

What a wonderful thing is fresh air! If there is a cure-all in the world, fresh air is that cure-all. It makes pale cheeks rosy and rosy cheeks ruddy. We get too little of it in this age of steam heat, sub-ways and outskellers. Just see how fresh air revives Claude, until he pulls out a knife to slit the canvas of the stretcher!

Desmond goes along contentedly enough, thinking that Claude is still unconscious and that he will have a snap in putting him away for 20eps. But you see Claude has slit a hole in the canvas and is even now reaching out in the hope of finding some weapon with which he may put Desmond out of the villain business.

Ouch! You know what it feels like to get a good stiff crack on the shins. Mortal injury is not likely to result, but oh, what a pain! No wonder Desmond jumps when Claude picks up a club and gets him squarely on the shin. Not even the villain's iron nerve can stand that, and he forgets for the moment all about his nefarious plot.

The "unconscious" hero has suddenly come to life, and the villain learns to his surprise that Claude, so far from being helpless, is as husky as ever. As for Rosamond, she is delighted to see her lover all right again and the villain powerless in his strong grasp. She knows that Desmond will now be fittingly punished.

"I'm the boy!" cries Desperate Desmond, "but I don't like the looks of this place." The villain is being forced through the gates of the Forbidden City, from the walls of which no white man has ever returned. It is a horrible fate, but then the scoundrel richly deserves it. Tomorrow's pictures will carry the story.

A Butterfly on the Wheel

A Story for the Married and Those Who Expect to Be, Based on the Great Play Now Running in New York

TODAY'S INSTALMENT.

By J. W. M'Conaughy.

Copyright, 1912, by American-Journal-Examiner

"AND what emergency do you expect?" inquired Peggy.

"Oh, none!" exclaimed Dicky hastily.

"None?"

"None," added Collingwood.

"None at all, dearest Peggy," cooed the lady.

"I see, I understand! But don't you think the story will need a lot of explanation?"

"Only if someone questions it," replied Lady Attwill.

"Oh?"

"So you see it's all right, Peggy," his lordship reassured her, with a famous smile of patronage. "We have left nothing to chance."

"Absolutely nothing," agreed Lady Attwill, and a suspicious person might have detected a sub-current of hidden meaning in smile and voice.

Peggy bent her gaze on the third of her advisers. "What do you think of it, Carling? Don't you think we are a precious set of fools? No, that is unkind of me. Not you, Alice—not you, Dicky! I am a precious fool!" she added, with a softly, bitterly. "Why, I should be in cap and bells—a thing to make the whole world laugh! But you—you will ask for an explanation—the same as they ask, would you not, in the case of the better part of the joke. But tell me, Dicky, why so late you wanted to speak?"

"Oh, sang a alf," he exclaimed uncomfortably. "I—I—looks," he stared hard, "candid Dicky—that was frank," she said gently. "It looks so much worse. Looks—only looks—you and what do you say, Colling? Can't we tell the truth? Is there nothing—"

"Nothing," exclaimed Collingwood, vigorously.

"There, Dicky," went on Peggy in the same gentle fashion, "there's nothing to hide."

"Oh, we all know that!" Dicky assured her in embarrassed haste.

"Then why the explanation—the short simple tale?" she pursued, still no one speaks. Not just the truth? Again she paused and glanced from one face to another, but no one wanted to reply. Peggy turned slowly toward her bedroom.

"Oh, I leave you for a moment," she exclaimed, and for the first time she seemed nervous, frightened. "I must go out! The plane is stifling. We are off to go into the air. We'll grow moody in here. Alice, I'll put on a garb, Colling," she added, her hand on the door, "you must invent some other tale to satisfy Dicky's scruples. Think it over."

His lordship made a doubtful, deeper into the study.

"Well, I'm figured," he exclaimed.

"I told you she was upset," Lady Attwill sneered coldly, with a shrug.

"Well, Dicky," Collingwood rose with the air of a man who has done his best and his best is not appreciated. "I've done the best I can, old boy, and I'm sorry but that Peggy for a drive, and we'll talk it over. And be disappeared into his own apartment.

"Tut! This comes of trying to help one's friends," grumbled his lordship in injured tones. "I'm blowed if I care what happens!"

"Dick, it is very strange," said the lady, the while she looked out of the window. "I've never seen Peggy in this mood before. And I'm afraid she's not mistake her meaning."

"Why, good gracious, you don't think the worst has happened?" he growled nervously, as he paced the floor. "Why, some more politely.

"Well, Collingwood is not in Peggy's good books," mused the lady. A waiter threw open the door.

"Modern Admaston."

The Crash.

THIS announcement had much the effect on Lord Ellerdine and Lady Attwill that the sudden appearance of a Norse sailor might have had on their Saxon forefathers. The lady, as it happened, was in a favorable position near the window. Before Admaston could follow the waiter through the door she had slipped away out of sight on the balcony.

Lord Ellerdine was gloomily searching through the columns of a newspaper and before he could rise and take more than one step in her direction Mr. Admaston was facing him. It is far from exaggeration to say that his lordship felt distinctly uncomfortable as never before in his life.

Ridge, Ellerdine, what are you doing here?" he inquired pleasantly, but with not a smile, as he advanced slowly into the room and stripped off his gloves. Dicky threw an appalling glance toward the open window and then at the newspaper for aid.

"Ah—ah—oh—ah!" he stammered ridiculously, squirming and shifting as he stood upon the hearthrug.

"Rather sorry for you, isn't it?" pursued Admaston in the same tone, but there was in the latter, Ellerdine's manner would have convicted a regiment of conspiracy. "I'm afraid you'll no longer find the slightest doubt that I'm worst wishes."

"Rather," agreed Dicky, with fervent boldness. "Sorry indeed!" He stepped with a cough and a gasp.

Swift & Company's sales of Fresh Beef in Boston for the week ending Saturday, March 9th, averaged 10.72 cents per pound.

DICKY HASTILY CONSULTED HIS NOTES!" "YES," HE SAID, "WE—ER—ALL STAYED THE NIGHT AT THIS HOTEL.

(Scene from Act II., in which Lord Ellerdine lies in an attempt to save Peggy's reputation.)

"All what?" queried Mr. Admaston after an appreciable waft.

Dicky made inarticulate sounds and flaith gestures for several seconds and then gasped desperately:

"Yes—yes—Where's Lady Attwill?"

"Is she here?"

"Oh, yes!" exclaimed his lordship with a nervous smile that was meant to indicate his perfect mental ease. "She's here. We're all here."

Worse and Worse

"Where is my wife?" inquired Admaston.

"She's gone to her room to change her gown," replied Dicky.

"But I thought you were going on to Switzerland?" protested Admaston in mild surprise.

"We did—did you—really?" he stammered, Admaston frowned slightly.

"Why, you," he said, "that was the plan, wasn't it?"

"Oh, yes, of course!" replied Ellerdine, his smile now proclaiming fatuous triumph. "But" he added, for the good of his face, there to see how well he was carrying off the situation—"we all got on the wrong train."

"What?"

"We all got on the wrong train," repeated Dicky, in a voice that carried an implication of the usually rhythmic rush of the surf.

"Who?" asked the lawyer.

"Oh, Peggy and Collingwood—and—we—"

"And what train did you and Lady Attwill get on?" interrupted Admaston, sharply. Dicky floundered again for a few seconds.

"Ah—oh—the wrong one!" he cried at last, triumphantly. Stupid mistake, wasn't it?"

"Very," commented Mr. Admaston, in a tone that made Dicky more uncomfortable, he hastily lowered his notes with fear.

"Yes," he said. "And so—we all stayed the night at this hotel."

"Indeed?"

"Oh, yes," Dicky assured him. "All—all the properties were most carefully observed, Admaston."

"Now, that is very interesting," declared the latter with a heartiness that was the refinement of irony.

"Yes," nodded Dicky. He was feeling vastly relieved now that he was able to lead quieted any small suspicions Admaston may have entertained. "Then what the deuce are you doing in Paris?" he inquired, cheerfully.

Admaston, for the first time, turned his eyes away from Ellerdine's face.

"Oh, a whim," he said with a slight shrug.

"Didn't expect to find us here, did you?" continued Dicky, pleasantly.

"There's something on. Isn't there?" Admaston partially facing or something."

"Yes, Antony. Going out—"

"I don't know." He turned his back on Ellerdine and moved slowly toward the window. Lady Attwill suddenly appeared.

"Alice!" he exclaimed, holding out his hand—he was off to conference at Geneva?"

"Oh! I saw him at Boulogne," explained Lady Attwill easily, while Dicky listened, dumb with admiration.

"Really! Well, he spoke to me from Amiens, where he has been staying for the past week, that he was joining the express there—and Amiens is the first stop on the Swiss Express, isn't it?"

"Yes," said the lady, uneasily.

"And the Paris express doesn't stop at Amiens?" He turned to Ellerdine. "Eh?"

Dicky wheeled so rapidly that he almost lost his balance.

"Eh—oh—no!" he stammered.

"Funny," mused Admaston, "that being already at Amiens, where the Swiss Express does stop, he should go back to Boulogne to catch it."

"Very," agreed his lordship with an uncomfortable smile, "damned funny of him, wasn't it?"

There was a slight pause in which Ellerdine tried to wig-wag a few messages to the lady.

"You found Paris very full?" remarked Admaston presently.

"Very," said the lady. "We were lucky to get in."

"Here?" questioned Admaston.

"Yes," said Ellerdine, then staring straight before her she delivered the fortune, "all stayed the night at this hotel."

Before Admaston could continue the examination Collingwood entered from his apartment. He had been the cause and knew about what the situation was.

"Hullo, Admaston," he said cordially and naturally.

Admaston faced him with his hands tightly clasped behind his back, his figure stiffened unconsciously as he prepared to deal with the man who, he believed, had done him the greatest wrong that one man can do another.

"Well, Collingwood," he said, in crisp tones, "I thought I would run over and see you."

Collingwood lit a cigarette and careless-ly threw a leg across the corner of the table.

To Be Continued Tomorrow.

Automatic

THE timid husband and the equally timid wife met huddled together on the deck of the great liner, which was taking them far away from their native shores.

The sea was not nearly so calm as it might have been, and the ship was rolling badly. After a while the timid ones began to grow pale, and a shuttered conversation took place between them, and the woman walked slowly towards the captain's bridge.

"Please, sir," said she, addressing the man of blue cloth and gold lace, "can you tell my husband what to do if he has an attack of seasickness?"

"Yes, mum," replied the solemnly for a few moments, winked his eye, and then replied:

"It isn't necessary to tell him. He'll just do it."

Cruelty to Animals

BRIAN G. HUGHES, said at a recent luncheon, "I don't mind practical jokes on human beings, but when it comes to animals I draw the line.

"Two artists were once bragging to each other.

"'I painted up a lump of pig iron to look like gold,' said the first artist, 'and, by Jove! when I threw it in the river it fairly sank.'

"Now," said Mr. Hughes, "there was to be a dinner in their city apartment in artist. He said, with a cruel, unfeeling laugh:

"'I painted a lump of pig iron once to look like beef, and you may guess how three-quarters of it before he discovered his mistake.

The Passing of Hospitality

By Virginia Terhune Van de Water

HOSPITALITY, in its best sense, appears to be on the wane. A sturdy virtue in the old-fashioned virtue still exists, but the woman in moderate circumstances no longer keeps "open house."

To be sure, she sends out cards for "at homes" each year, and then feels that she has done her duty and performed her share towards clearing the apostolic injunction—"Be given to hospitality."

One sometimes wonders if anyone really enjoys the conventional "tea" to which one goes from a sense of duty, at which the guests one's hostess, who runs on to drink tea, though she is not thirsty, and eat cake, though she is not hungry—after which she goes home to tea goodby and departs to go through a similar performance in another drawing-room. Such functions are especially for women. Of course men are invited, but they seldom go—if they can help it. They will do almost anything as a rule, very young men, very unsophisticated men or very patient men.

Sometimes they are husbands who, perhaps, would rather stand being bored abroad than being reproached at home for refusing to accompany their wives. The average husband finds that he will give no greater proof of his devotion to his wife than by going to an afternoon tea, and he usually bungles such self sacrifice entirely superfluous.

Fortunately for him, he can always plead the cables of business that prove inconvenient and mysterious locality which has no office in town, the need of a married husband, and his wife goes forth in high glee, leaving him alone with the fires discharging his social obligations. Soon one has said that one rather enjoys hanging fast to his wife's skirts. Certain it is that the American business man goes into society tucked comfortably away in his wife's card case.

An Illustration

Fashionable as the tea is and agreeable as it may occasionally be, and convenient as it certainly is, it reminds one of the dinner party was in full swing, hearing his parent ask a blessing before each meal, suggested that as well people should drink three times a day the father should, when he laid in his Winter supply of wine, have it all offered over the whole turned in other words, do away the entire blessing business at once. Sure I may be patronized for comparing the giver of one formal tea a season with his rural and plebeian person.

But as already admitted, the tea is a convenience, in fact it is almost a necessity if one would ever hope to find a friend at home, or see the caller whom one would like to see when he calls. The tea is required in the way of hospitality.

Many of us look forward wistfully to the days a score or more of years ago when, in our parents' houses, company came and went "from noon" just as we were. Our schoolmates were always welcome and it was natural to say to the friend who happened in most unexpectedly, "Stay and lunch." We felt that our guests came to see us, not that we could ever hope to find friend at home, or see the caller whom one would like to see when he calls. The tea is required in the way of hospitality.

Many of us look forward wistfully to the days a score or more of years ago when, in our parents' houses, company came and went "from noon" just as we were. Our schoolmates were always welcome and it was natural to say to the friend who happened in most unexpectedly, "Stay and lunch." We felt that our guests came to see us, not that we could ever hope to find friend at home, or see the caller whom one would like to see when he calls. The tea is required in the way of hospitality.

There is the root of the trouble, or one of its many roots. We are often trying to do more than we can afford to do more in fact, than we have a right to do when we invite company to our homes. If a neighbor at whose house we have recently dined keeps several maids and gives fashionable dinners, we are ashamed to return her hospitality by asking her to a simple little meal in our small flat, in which we have only one servant.

A bride whose husband is on a small salary recently suggested to him that they ask to dinner in their city apartment a couple who had been very kind to them and had shown them generous hospitality. The young husband received his eager wife that it "would cost a lot."

"But why?" protested the would-be hostess, "I can prepare a simple but good, nourishing meal for four persons myself, and I can prepare many of the dishes myself."

A Stumbling Block

"You forget," said her husband, "the drinks."

She had not considered them until he reminded her that at the house of the couple whom they were planning to entertain there had been cocktails before dinner, champagne with dinner, and several kinds of cordials after dinner. The bride soon understood that what her husband called "the drinks" would cost more than she had imagined.

And so there was the mistake—the dinner was not given. The wife of the man who made two thousand a year was not willing to ask to her house the wife of the man who made ten times that amount because she could not provide as fine wines as did the more wealthy woman. And she did not occur to the young wife that this reluctance was a reflection upon the sincerity of her new friend's liking for her, or such suspicion that she would come to her hostess' company, but for the entertainment in which the feast.

It is so silly when one analyzes it or judges it calmly for one's self. Think for a moment at what hostess you, the reluctant, would rather have the dinner given by, the ardent hostess. Is it not where you feel that you have caused no domestic upheaval, where you are allowed to come as you are, where you are made entirely at home by the lack of formality? One of the most delightful places to visit is that household in which, on the night "Sunday night off," the friends who drop in are asked to assist in the preparation of supper.

It is so easy to do as well as, or better than, anyone else are losing the true charm of hospitality. And to take refuge from the average servant objects to the dinner and you will see why the society of today entertains less often than did that of yesterday.

The remedy for all this lies with women, with the hostess. It would be well for them to decide to themselves that "what is good enough for husband and children is good enough for guests." When they have the will and the courage to do this they will find their entertaining not only "another plan" but one far more delightful.

And the guest who would not appreciate such hospitality, or would criticise such manner of living, is the person one should wish to have in one's house under any circumstances.

As to the servants—in engaging a maid the employer should tell her frankly that she expects to entertain often, and not elaborately, and if the maid shows reluctance or hesitation the nominal mistress should decide at once against her.

"After all, when a maid understands that "company" means only the above-mentioned plain meal, she does not imply an extravagant function, she will lose her dread of guests.

Suppose, as cannot are as expensive a dinner or luncheon as Mrs. Well-To-Do provides—what difference need that make? The fact that after the first time you have you agreeable, that your birth, breeding and mentality are equal to hers, or that she likes you thoroughly. If your house is the last one in which you will be asked as you can keep it, and if the table you provide for your guests is your own personality, and not be ashamed.

Tell yourself over and over that you will be glad to see them in your simple home, that you are glad to see them, and your nerves to the raw "triple"—as Mark Twain put it, "to be what you ain't."

Wanted a Drink

OLLIE JAMES of Kentucky, recently a Representative, but now a Senator, tells of the time when he was driving through a hilly section of his native State. He was there on business partly on business connected with his political hopes. He came to a farmhouse where there was a well-dressed man sitting comfortably, and pulled in and asked the farmer if he might have a drink.

"I'm sorry, sah," said the farmer, "but I'm suttenly like to remedate you, but I'm sorry. If you all 'll just drap into dat spring down dah you'll find a cup dah he you can git suttenly."

The Senator strolled a fine well here on your place," said the Senator from the hills.

"Why, that's water! I didn't know you was wantin' that! I thought you asked me for a drink. You sure can have all the water you want."

His Preference

THOMAS NELSON PAGE told a story about an old colored man.

"On a bright cold, gusty morning in the holidays," he said, "an old Uncle Cheese bobbed down the main street on his stick, a gentleman stopped him and said:

"'Now, Uncle Cheese, what would you rather have for a New Year's gift—a bottle of apple jack or a pair of shoes?'

"'Well, sah,' said Uncle Cheese, 'you see, sah, it's this way. Ah wears boots.'"

APT

"What do you do here?" asked a visitor to the circus of the dwarf.

"I amuse the people in a small way," replied the little man.

TO-DAY'S STOCK MARKETS

SHOE MACHINERY GOES HIGHER

STATE STREET, March 12—Midday.—There was not much activity to copper stocks in the Boston market at the opening today. Among the issues which received were Amalgamated and Calumet & Hecla. The market soon became somewhat irregular.

Among the industrials, Shoe Machinery was higher.

The New York market was stronger at the start and then receded. It grew more steady before noon.

Early New York Prices Are Higher.

At the opening of the New York market the tone was much improved over that displayed at the closing yesterday. The improvement applied to most leading issues. Both Union Pacific and United States Steel moved up, and smaller advances were made in Reading, New York Central and Pennsylvania. Later Reading fell from 156¾ to 156½, Lehigh Valley continued active. The Eries were in brisk demand and copper stocks also ranged higher. Erie common rose 8/8, and a gain of ⅛ was made in the preferred. There was evidence of pool activity in a number of low-priced industrials.

Despite a good gain in Canadian Pacific in the London market, that stock opened unchanged in New York. Amalgamated Copper was ⅛ up and Smelters made a gain of ¼.

Southern railway was in fair demand, and copper stocks also ranged higher. Erie common rose ⅝

Legislature Should Beware Trap Set By the New Haven to Intrench Itself in Control of Street Railways

The Legislature this year is about to face one of those duties which men are loath to meet. It stands between an imperative public policy involving the interests of the whole State and the earnest, honest demand of the citizens from the hill towns of Berkshire for relief from their isolation.

This is an embarrassing trap carefully set by the New Haven Railroad to facilitate the passage of House bills Nos. 654 and 1,092.

These bills are the final assault by the New Haven Railroad upon the last redoubt which this Commonwealth erected years ago to protect her transportation business from monopoly and to assure the continuance of a healthy competition among our railroads and street railways.

By the provisions of these two bills the New Haven Railroad is seeking by the direct sanction of the Legislature to acquire that control of the street railways of Massachusetts from the New York line to Worcester which it was obliged by the Supreme Court a few years ago to surrender because held contrary to our law.

The New Haven Railroad realizes that this is one of the most unpropitious years which it could possibly select to break down still further our ancient barriers against a transportation monopoly. We have just awakened from the slumber of the last decade, in which we seemed to have forgotten the precious value to New England of healthy competition between our common carriers.

There is awakened a great revival of business intelligence in Massachusetts. Business men have come to appreciate within the last few years that the public service corporations were created by the State to serve the public and not to tax them.

We are appreciating the tremendous part these transportation companies play in our industrial and commercial growth. People are less likely this year than any other year which has gone before to permit a railroad to enter upon adventurous projects which will burden it beyond its ability to render good service where it is already attempting to render service.

We have created a Port Commission with great powers and with a large appropriation and with an implied promise of a great deal larger appropriation to develop our port and to bring here new and competing transportation lines.

We are calling for the Grand Trunk to add to its competitive service. The business interests of the community are unanimous and emphatic in their view of the necessity for competition in the business of transporting our goods and our persons.

Just a brief experience with the beginnings of the monopoly which the New Haven Railroad is trying to establish caused this great uprising of popular interest in these railroad questions.

In the face of these untoward conditions, in the face of the weakened financial position of the New Haven, it would seem sheer folly for the New Haven to raise this question this year.

But Mr. Mellen and his coadjutors have a couple of cards up their sleves which they think can take as many tricks for them as all their mistakes, all their bad faith and all the inherent weakness of a monopolistic proposition itself can take away from them.

To the citizens of the hill towns beyond Worcester they say that if they can have this legislation they will spend five millions in extending the street railways up through those little towns.

Every town, therefore, west of Worcester thinks it is going to be the town where the new street railway is coming. Every town wants the bill.

It makes no difference whether the bill violates a settled and wise policy of the State. It makes no difference whether the street railways may not pay and therefore become a charge upon the rest of the community served by the New Haven. It makes no difference whether the New Haven's financial condition requires it rather to spend that five millions in maintaining its service and equipment than to attempt to bribe a whole countryside by the offer of improvements which it ought to give as a matter of business and without conditions if it will pay, and which it ought not to give at all if it will not pay.

Notwithstanding all this the New Haven believes that the sight of the promised land which it gave to the people of the Western counties will prove too strong a temptation for their public spirit to resist. But the AMERICAN does not believe that the people of the Western counties would knowingly sacrifice principle and policy and ask the Commonwealth to surrender the position from which she is defending her industrial, commercial and political freedom from the assaults of a great, speculative, railroad monopoly.

Yet the appeal from the hill towns of Berkshire for better transportation facilities must be given serious consideration. If more street railways in this section could be made self-supporting within a reasonable time from their beginning operation, some provision ought to be made to afford them these facilities.

But the necessity should be investigated carefully with the intention actually to find means of establishing the lines for which these hill towns are crying loudly. The Railroad Commission could be requested to inquire, as they now must when a new road is projected, whether or not public convenience and necessity require such street railways. If the report is in favor of the demands of the Berkshire Counties, it would not be difficult for the State to agree to guarantee the bonds of some new company which could be formed to meet the necessities of that section.

The Legislature will not decide these vital questions by log rolling. Each must be determined according to its own merits.

"William, I'm glad to see that you are waking up and putting a little ginger into the show. Swing that stuffed club lively; the public will think it's the real thing. Theodore's great melodrama, 'Old Home Week; or, No Front Door Bells for Perkins,' seems to be going big. Stop posing there, Elihu, and go and press my trousers!"

The U. S. Senate's Stab to Universal Peace

To the United States Senate, in its quibbling wisdom, our country and civilization are indebted for the destruction of the most hopeful movement for universal peace that the century has known.

These great treaties with England and France would have been followed swiftly by similar treaties with other great nations, and so along the peaceful line of arbitration wars and slaughter would have been banished from the world.

The Senate has killed these treaties. The President will scarcely insult England and France with the presentation of these chopped-to-pieces documents, which carry neither force nor meaning in their terms.

Lawyers as able and fully as impartial as any that the Senate holds have declared that no possible "prerogative" of the Senate was endangered by these international agreements.

AND WHO WOULD WEIGH A "SENATORIAL PREROGATIVE" AGAINST THE WORLD'S PEACE? This country, already growing weary of the abuses of "Senatorial prerogative" and "Senatorial courtesy," will receive in the action of Thursday a fresh inspiration to the demand for their reform.

There was nothing in the last clause of Article 3 which warranted an apprehension of our country's disadvantage in arbitration. There were five members provided for the high commission which was to decide what questions were justiciable, and therefore subject to arbitration, and two at least of these were always to be ours. Four out of the five must agree to form a verdict. So that two of our own countrymen must have voted against us to make decision adverse to our interests final. If we were right no two of our countrymen would ever decide against us. And if two of our own commissioners decided against us, it would be proof positive that we were wrong and ought to yield.

The peace movement of the world is dead for a season by the Senate's hand.

The common sense and the humanity of the Republic rebels against the Senate's quibbling vote. Public Opinion, as expressed by an impartial press, is practically unanimous in condemnation of the Senate's vote. Public Opinion should be invoked to speak in yet louder and more compelling tones for a revision of the ballot that struck down universal peace.

If there were any low partisan politics in this vote that feared in this great world question an advantage to a Republican President and a Republican Secretary of State, then there was neither independence nor dignity nor democracy nor decent public spirit in the motive.

As demagogy it was cheap. As statesmanship it was contemptible.

The Peanut Man

By MINNA IRVING

WHERE grimy tenements dark and high
Shut out the blue of the city sky,
In the country lanes that are sweet and bright
With flowers of morning and dews of night;
A shriller note on the breeze is heard
Than call of cricket or song of bird,
An echo faint of the days of Pan—
The peevish pipe of the peanut man.

The swarthy vender is next of kin
To the famous Piper of Hamelin,
For dropping dolly and bat and ball,
With pennies clutched in their fingers small,
The eager children go running after
The smoking oven with peals of laughter—
Rose and Molly, and Ted and Dan,
Dance to the pipe of the peanut man.

Whistling boys and romping girls,
Toddlers wee, with their flaxen curls,
Some in velvet and some in rags,
Reaching up for the paper bags
Filled with the goobers crisp and hot—
(Only a nickel, and what a lot!)
The happiest crowd since the world began,
Follows the pipe of the peanut man.

The Widening of Life

By DR. FRANK CRANE

MOST of the cruelties, errors and even sins of men come from narrowness. Provincialism is the great curse.

Whatever widens one's horizon improves his moral nature.

Wherever a person lives an isolated existence, or wherever a little community exists sufficient unto itself and with no contact with the great world, there humanity sours, grows morbid and wrong.

It is curious to note how the contrary of this has seemed and still seems to so many persons to be true. Little sects imagine that when one of their number forsakes the poke bonnet or shaves upper lip, the badge of the brethren, he is on the downward road. Country villages fear the great cosmopolitan cities. Mothers dread for their children to go out into the world. Travel is supposed to be loosening to morals. Staying at home and walking the daily treadmill has a reputation of being the best way to stay good.

As a matter of fact, the only real good thing in the world is humanity; all of it. Goodness is a quality that inheres in the general mass. When you fence off a section of folks and fancy you are going to raise the moral tone, you are mistaken. By and by somebody always has to break down the fence and rescue the elect to keep them from cutting one another's throats.

One reason, perhaps the main reason, why the mediaeval world was so bloody and harsh was that it was utterly provincial. They had in those days few means of travel. Each community lived to itself, had its own customs, costumes and cussedness. Hence, first, they were dirty. They were naturally visited with terrible pests. Cholera, red death and black death raged. People died like flies.

They were brutal. Their only outlet for enthusiasm was war, which was carried on as a steady business, of which the king or duke was general manager. They drove the sick and insane out into the woods. The sport of the nobility was to ravage among the common people.

They were ignorant. They were superstitious. They not only did not know the things that are true, but they knew an ocean of things that are not true. It was what Zangwill calls "An unknown without facts."

What has cured all this has been largely travel. Giving the Renaissance and the rise of Science full credit for their share in the work of bettering the race, still the principal causes were—Steam and Printing.

Railroads have done more to break down not only the physical but the moral barriers between men than any other single agency. World-wide commerce is a surer guaranty of world-wide disarmament than all the peace conferences and pacts. It is the ocean liner that has rendered pirates impossible and flooded Europe with American ideas.

Add to this the printing press, which brings libraries and newspapers and the thoughts of all past ages and of all far countries home to the smallest hamlet in Poland or Dakota.

This unifying of all human-kind softens, refines, elevates each part. There is no salvation for any one individual nor for any one nation. The only possible salvation is for the whole world.

Whoever made this human race intended to make any sort of dog-in-the-manger culture, religion or health impossible.

Steamboats and locomotives are the shuttles weaving the ethics of the future, that shall depend on no church, nor class, nor sect, nor any segment of humanity, but upon the wide, universal instincts and emotions and thoughts of all.

Missionaries going to China, and Chinese students coming to American schools, are building wiser than they know.

The steam and roar and rattle, the many cargoes in the seven seas, the screams of racing express trains, the snow-storms of paper from the unwearied presses, all are busy at the gigantic moral and spiritual enterprise of getting humanity together.
